French, English, Belgian and German Socialists and Laborites Discussing Settlement Methods.

M'DONALD IN FAVOR OF ACTION BY LEAGUE

International Labor Working Out Plan to Enable France to Make a Graceful Escape.

BY RALPH H. TURNER.

United News Staff Correspondent.

London, March 22.—Socialist and laborite members of the English, French and Belgian parliaments are in Berlin conferring with German socialists of the reichstag concerning a settlement of the Ruhr crisis.

Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the labor party in the house of commons and one of the most outspoken pacifists during the world war, made this announcement Thursday. MacDonald had just returned from Paris where he met with French and Belgian socialists, fostering the movement of going over the heads of the European governments to bring peace.

The representatives of the radicants of France, Britain and Belgium will report back to Paris next week and confer on the results of the conference with the Germans.

Favors League Action.

MacDonald favors settlement of the Ruhr embroilment through the league of nations and desires that the body also guarantee France against German aggression.

The laborite, who made his announcement at a dinner given for foreign press correspondents revealed that international labor was working out a plan which, it is hoped, will enable the governments, particularly France, to escape gracefully from the difficult situation on the continent.

He stated that England and France had not agreed on the advisability of the Ruhr occupation, adding that France and Belgium got themselves in a position in which a sense of dignity prevented them from getting out.

Agree on Solution.

As a means of reconciling the divergencies, MacDonald urged that the parliaments of the world get together and present their different viewpoints, weigh the problems involved and then agree on a common and practical solution.

The laborite leader declared that when nationality reaches the stage of economic exclusiveness it is apt to endanger the peace of the world. "Labor links nationality with internationality."

MacDonald, several weeks ago, made a futile attempt to induce the government of Premier Bonar Law to go on record as favoring a meeting of committees from the British, French, Belgian and German parliaments in an effort to settle the reparations problem and the situation in the Ruhr. Following his failure, MacDonald acted on his own initiative.

PEACH FESTIVAL IN FORT VALLEY GREAT SUCCESS

Thousands of Visitors
Are Guests of Fort Valley
for Monster Celebration
Thursday.

Fort Valley, Ga., March 22.—(Special).—Thursday was a gala day for Fort Valley. The occasion was the celebration of the second annual Peach Blossom festival which was inaugurated last year by the citizens of Fort Valley, in the very heart of the peach section.

The success of the festival this year surpassed the fondest hopes of its most enthusiastic supporters. Thousands of visitors from all sections of the state were present to pay homage to King Peach.

More than a hundred Atlantans were on hand to join with the visitors from other portions of the state in enjoying the generous hospitality extended by the south Georgians and Atlanta was officially represented by a special float depicting the Atlanta skyline and bearing Miss Lucy Carter and Miss Martha Boynton, representatives of Atlanta's own particular brand of "peaches." B. S. Barker and John Addicks, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, responsible for the float, were the recipients of hearty congratulations upon the success of their efforts.

20,000 People Attend.

Upward of 20,000 people from all sections of Georgia and many from other states were assembled to celebrate the blossoming of the peach trees, one of the main industries of this section of Georgia, and this year an added feature was the expression of joy that the crop escaped serious damage in the recent cold wave.

The celebration was opened this morning with a remarkable parade in which were entered gorgeously decorated floats depicting the various industries of the state, as well as special floats entered by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, the Savannah Board of Trade and the Macon Chamber of Commerce.

Immediately after the parade an address was delivered by Hon. Waller F. George, junior United States senator from Georgia.

Immense Barbecue.

At noon was served an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue, probably the largest ever served. Three miles of tables, set to accommodate 25,000 persons, were spread out over the landscape. Seven hundred gallons of Brunswick stew, familiarly known as "South Georgia," was placed at the disposal of the guests, as well as 22,000 pounds of barbecue and 1,000 gallons of coffee. The coffee was served from an army kettle truck.

The barbecue pits, where the repast has been in process of preparation for several weeks, were half a

FORTUNE CLAIMED TO BE U. S. AGENT, JUDGE TESTIFIES

Evidence Is Completed in Blackmail Trial of Lawrenceville Attorney in Fulton Superior Court.

DEFENDANT ADMITS GETTING INTOXICANT

Arguments of Counsel
Will Be Heard Today.
Testimony of Judge Bell
Comes as Denouement
in Trial.

That R. B. Fortune, Lawrenceville attorney on trial charged with blackmail, represented himself as a special government prohibition agent, was testimony offered in Fulton superior court Thursday afternoon by Judge George L. Bell. This testimony came as a denouement in the trial which had occupied all of Thursday morning before Judge John D. Humphries.

Fortune is being tried on two indictments of two counts each, charged with having blackmailed two Atlanta widows, Mrs. Irma McKown and her mother, Mrs. W. R. Holmes, in that he threatened to prosecute them on several charges if they failed to pay him a certain fee to prevent that prosecution.

The case grew out of the capture near Lawrenceville on the night of December 22, 1922, by members of the Gwinnett county sheriff's force of an automobile loaded with liquor, and in which were riding Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. McKown.

Sheriff E. S. Garner, of Gwinnett county, testified Thursday that the women were not arrested and that he never had any intention of detaining them. Tom Condon and the negro driver of the car, he testified, were lodged in the county jail, while the women, at his direction, were escorted to the hotel by one of his deputies, where they remained through the night to await an opportunity to continue their journey to Atlanta. W. J. Blanton, proprietor of the car and alleged owner of the whisky, escaped, according to Sheriff Garner.

Both Mrs. McKown and Mrs. Holmes testified that Fortune approached them the next morning as they were eating breakfast and informed them that he had been told to Sheriff Garner that they must "get out of town" inside of thirty minutes, or "suffer the consequences." They stated Fortune then told them he was a "special deputy sheriff" and was in a position to prevent prosecution, provided he was "paid for his trouble."

Wanted $50.

They stated he told them he "wanted $50 and as much more as they could afford."

Los Angeles, March 22.—Estelle Taylor, motion picture star, is named as co-respondent in a divorce suit filed here by Mrs. Ethel Barnes against her husband, George E. Barnes, who is a cinematographer.

Mrs. Barnes charges that Miss Taylor and her husband frequented dance halls and cafes together until people began to talk about it.

Estelle had previously been named as a co-respondent in the George Walsh-Seena Owen suit, but after a series of sensational charges and counter-charges, the suit was dropped, as was a suit Miss Taylor had meaningfully filed for damages for alleged slander.

Airplane Brings Fort Valley Fete Pictures to Constitution

Striking views of the Fort Valley peach blossom festival, presented in this issue of The Constitution, were rushed to Atlanta from Fort Valley by airplane Thursday afternoon for the benefit of readers of this paper in the peach belt.

The photographs were taken Thursday afternoon in Fort Valley during the progress of the fete by Francis E. Price, staff photographer of The Constitution. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Mr. Price and A. B. McMullin, Atlanta aviation instructor, hopped off at Fort Valley and landed at Candler field in Atlanta exactly one hour later.

Pilot McMullin stated upon landing that he had exceeded his scheduled time by approximately a quarter of an hour. The plane made its trip, a distance of 130 miles by dirt road, by way of Macon, passing that city before 3:30 o'clock.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Paris, March 22.—(By the Associated Press).—Every step reported as having been made by the Germans or on behalf of Germany looking toward negotiations for a settlement of the reparations question is regarded in French official circles as a maneuver with a view of strengthening the German hand, it was said at the French foreign office today. At the same time it was again officially denied that any negotiations were in progress on behalf of the French government.

Native born, white, Protestant women of America above the age of eighteen years will be admitted to the order, according to Colonel Simmons, who stated that he will soon issue the ritualistic work of the order, which is to be devoted to "a new consecration to the American home, to the American government and to the American creed of Christianity as taught by the Protestant church."

Formation of the Kamelia, the woman's order based on the principles of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, has been formulated and will be organized to function "alongside of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan," according to a statement issued Thursday by William J. Simmons, former imperial wizard of the Klan, who has appointed himself magus or president of the organization.

Native born, white, Protestant women of America above the age of eighteen years will be admitted to the order, according to Colonel Simmons, who stated that he will soon issue the ritualistic work of the order, which is to be devoted to "a new consecration to the American home, to the American government and to the American creed of Christianity as taught by the Protestant church."

In his statement Mr. Simmons reviews his organization seven years ago of the Ku Klux Klan, of which he is now imperial emperor, an honorary office, declaring that in the successful growth of this society he has seen the accomplishment of the dream of his youth.

"I have invested in the organization all that I have and all that I am, so completely that nothing has been reserved. Therefore, there are certain rights of supervision and regulation and control residing and inhering in me, as the creator and founder of the organization, which I shall continue to exercise as long as mortal life shall last. To the administration of details and the conduct of routine affairs others have from time to time been assigned. But my relation to the organization is not going so well as they ought to; that the quantity of coal and coke that is obtained by the allied is ridiculously small, offering no prospect that the Ruhr occupation will ever become substantially productive. The allies are criticized for the inadequate means they have provided to exploit the guarantees taken, the criticism of the government declaring that more than forty thousand additional workers are needed if the allies expect to get anything out of the district.

These critics discard utterly the idea that the German workers may be brought into line so as to assure the production and shipment of coal and coke.

It is also pointed out that on account of the limited facilities for getting

Three Not Guilty.

Thirteen men were indicted and all were placed on trial together. Judge Charles L. McKeahan ordered the acquittal of Andrew T. Hamilton, former Philadelphia police lieutenant, and John Friedrich and Thomas Kane, local liquor dealers, for lack of evidence.

Two defendants, Harold L. Smith, expert broker and former intercollegiate sprint champion, and Joseph Kleinman, a truck driver, pleaded guilty and were witnesses for the government. The thirteenth man, Louis Acton, of New York, has never been apprehended.

Arthur H. Hill, a customs guard, was indicted on a charge of having accepted bribes in connection with the alleged conspiracy, also pleaded guilty and appeared as a government witness.

When the trial was announced, counsel for the defendants filed notice of a motion for a new trial. The court doubled the existing $5,000 bail, which was furnished.

Griffin Found Guilty.

Philadelphia, March 22.—Matthew F. Griffin, formerly head of the United States secret service in Philadelphia, and six other defendants were found guilty by a jury in federal district court today of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with an alleged plot to substitute water for whisky and alcohol in a large shipment to Greece. They were held in $10,000 bail each pending argument on a motion for a new trial.

Had the plans of the alleged conspirators gone through it was said they would have made at least $5,000,000.

Rum Vessels Coming.

New York, March 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Reports that six more rum laden vessels had left the Bahamas for American waters and that three schooners, believed to be the advance guard of a spring rum fleet from St. Pierre, Miquelon, had dropped anchor off the Rhode Island coast today added to the worries of prohibition enforcement authorities.

R. Q. Morick, newly-appointed zone enforcement chief, met the news with the statement that there was nothing he could do about it. The federal prohibition enforcement office said it was compelled to rely on the coast guard and customs service to break up the rum.

Captain Ross, coast guard commander, said there were three coast guard vessels in the New York district—which has a coast line of about 200 miles—doing “occasional” work against the rum-runners.

He emphasized that these vessels, however, were offering resistance to the runners only “incidentally,” pointing out that the coast guard had other duties to perform.

Custom authorities said they had the cutter Lexington on the trail of the rum-runners, but declared she was far from able to cope with the traffic.

The six vessels which customs authorities were notified had cleared from the Bahamas with liquor and which have been put officially on the “suspicious list,” although they are ostensibly bound for other ports, are British schooner Louisville M. Smith, 3,600 cases; British schooner Sadie A. Nickles, 1,800 cases; American motorboat Ternant, 400 cases; British auxiliary schooner Inia, 700 cases; American schooner Liberty, 500 cases, and American auxiliary schooner Esther, 600 cases.

Edward Barnes, assistant solicitor for the coast guard, has begun an investigation of the registry of the three vessels classed as American. If they are found to be American registered, it was said, they will be seized under Attorney General Daugherty's ruling that American ships must travel “dry” throughout the world.

FLORIDA OFFICERS CHARGED WITH DRY LAW VIOLATIONS

Tallahassee, Fla., March 22.—While Governor Hardie today heard County Solicitor Fred W. Pine and Sheriff Louis A. Allen, of Dade county, and an accompanying delegation from Miami in defense of charges made by the Christian council that the two officials had not enforced prohibition and gambling laws, an order was going through the mails demanding that Sheriff Baker, of Palm Beach county, and appointing in his place R. B. Thompson.

Sheriff Baker, one of the best known officials of the state and long in office, was removed as the result of a federal grand jury indictment returned against him several days ago charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws and attempting to bribe a federal agent. Governor Hardie's order of suspension after reconvening the federal council said:

“It appears that said R. C. Baker is guilty of malfeasance and misfeasance in office. Beyond this there is no comment forthcoming from the executive.”

Charges Are Denied.

The delegation from Miami remained closeted with the governor for more than two hours and refused in detail, it is understood, the charges brought about by the Christian council. Although both sides were reticent following the hearing, it was learned that the charges date back as far as the round-up of a confidence band at Fort Lauderdale, the council said, that they allow flourishing operations by the illegal flourishing operations by the two officials in Dade county now.

The defense largely consisted of a mass of affidavits, designed to disprove the charges of the council, and counter charges that the council was a republican political organization trying to obtain control of the deputy.

The charges against Pine were stronger than those against Sheriff Allen, it was made known, in that it is alleged he accepted money to give protection to unlawful interests. The delegation of legal and moral supporters was headed by former Judge T. E. Price, who acted as legal counsel for the sheriff and as a friend for Mrs. Pine. Others in the party included Ben C. Willard, member of the legislature; A. B. Small, R. O. Watson and M. H. Rolfe, all prominent Miamians.

A bit of speculation centered around the delegation of Deputy Sheriff Robert O. Shackelford, of Jacksonville, who has been assigned by the governor in several instances on special and confidential work. His operations on these occasions have been largely in south Florida.

Charged With Taking Bribe.

Deputy Sheriff Shackelford, it was learned, was mentioned in an affidavit, made principally at Solicitor Pine, as having received $7,500 for his influence in having the bonds reduced in the case of a band of wire tappers rounded up at Fort Lauderdale last winter. Shackelford, acting as a special agent for the governor, caused the arrest of the band. The affidavits figuring in today's hearing were made by a man named Roberts, of Miami, and accused Pine of having accepted a bribe.

Shackelford is understood to have branded the entire affidavits as false, and to have given further testimony to the defense regarding his observations of conditions in Dade county.

Judge Price before going into the courtroom, said he intended to file affidavits from near kinsmen of Roberts, including his father-in-law, Judge Clayton instructed both the prosecution and the defense to file briefs and the hearing on the motion will be continued next Tuesday morning.

FOSTER TO FACE JURY'S DECISION

Defendant in Criminal Syndicalism Trial Loses in Fight for Directed Acquittal.

St. Joseph, Mich., March 22.—(By the Associated Press)—William Z. Foster, charged with violating Michigan's criminal syndicalism law by assembling with the national communist party, was found guilty yesterday, but was found free of jury's decision as to whether he shall go free or serve ten years in prison or pay a fine of $5,000 or possibly both.

Judge Charles White today overruled a motion by Frank P. Walsh, chief of counsel for Foster, that the court direct the jury to return a verdict of acquittal and ordered the trial to proceed.

Mr. Walsh maintained that no case had been proven against Foster by the state. He also cited court decisions in Michigan and Kansas cases to sustain his position, but Judge White held there was no similarity between the legal literature cited and the present trial.

Foster's lawyers held that he could not pass on the constitutionality of the Michigan law against syndicalism, and that for the purpose of this trial, he would declare it unconstitutional.

Mr. Walsh made his motion immediately after the state rested. As its final evidence the prosecution read to the jury a number of selections from “theses and resolutions” by the Michigan Industrial League.

Chief Stroup took issue with statements made by a defense attorney, and complained of the problems the dry men are having in Miami. He said the agents were sworn to protect the constitution of the United States.

“Stop,” thundered Judge Clayton. “I know all about the duties of dry men and the constitution and I won't allow anyone to lecture to this court.”

Later when Stroup attempted to speak in defense of his agents, Judge Clayton said he would send Stroup

Shiny New Ford Used by Harding In Tour of Town

Presidential Democracy Is Shown in Short Visit to Titusville.

Daytona, Fla., March 22.—Florida newspaper editors who have been coming to Titusville to report on the democracy of President Harding's vacation, pointing out the cordial manner with which he shakes hands with all those who turn out to meet him at the various stopping places, were given a new example of presidential democracy today during a stop at Titusville.

The President and Mrs. Harding and their party docked at Titusville to take on gasoline and water. Having cruised for several hours and having an uninterrupted cruise of several hours more in prospect as almost the entire day was spent on the boat, the president, accompanied only by Dick Jervis, of the secret service detail, left the Pioneer for a walk.

He walked to the end of the long pier at which the Pioneer had stopped and then started a sight-seeing tour of the little town, which has only a thousand or so inhabitants. It was warm and evidently the president decided he could see the town more pleasantly in an automobile. So the nearest car that appeared, like it might be hired, was taken and he began to be bright shiny new Ford driven by a young man wearing khaki trousers and a flannel shirt and no hat, but that made no difference to Mr. Harding, who climbed in the back seat with Jervis and toured the town, arriving back at the dock just as the Pioneer concluded taking on supplies.

Although virtually the entire day was spent in cruising up the Indian river and into the Halifax river, the Pioneer tonight was behind schedule and began to appear more than probable that St. Augustine, the end of the water trip, would not be reached before Saturday.

“Ah,” said Mrs. Jones, who was looking over the woman's page in an effort to find some suggestions for ways of entertaining a bride-elect, “here are some good ideas for shows.” “Huh!” grunted her lesser half. “I wish you could find some good umbrellas for them.”—Cincinnati Enquirer.

“Meantime let there be an immediate response on the part of the native born, white, Protestant women of America above the age of 18 years, to the uplifted ideals of American citizenship. Altogether let there be a new consecration to the American home, to the American government, and to the American creed of Christianity as taught by the Protestant church.

to, according to Mrs. Delia J. Akeley, and his subsequent wild actions made her wild enough to secure divorce, which was granted Thursday.

Mrs. Akeley, known as the “caveman” woman who ever hunted game in Africa, pictured her husband, who now has the more wild than wild sounding title of curator of the American Museum of Natural History in New York, as a “cave man.”

Time to Worry.

Mrs. Akeley had not been frightened by the roar of charging lions, but when her husband began to employ tactics similar to those used in the jungles, against the animals, she felt it was time to take action.

“We were in New York at one time,” she told Judge Walter P. Stetson in superior court, “when he became enraged, tied me to the bed and turned on the gas. Only the intervention of the servants saved my life,” she declared.

“In February, 1918,” she continued, “she signed my face, used abusive language, choked me and knocked my glasses off.

Borrowed Money.

“I left him in May. I went to a hotel and borrowed money from a friend to pay my bills.

“Finally I was forced to sell my elephant tusks to meet expenses.”

Later, Mrs. Akeley said, she joined the Red Cross and served with that organization in France.

“I have always been a kind, loyal wife, and never gave my husband cause to do the cruel things he did to me,” she declared.

Akeley had originally filed a bill charging.

The Akeleys were married in 1902. Akeley was formerly head of the field museum. Mrs. Akeley Thursday told of two hundred trips to Africa, one in 1903 and the other in 1909. Akeley had since gone on other trips, she said, but he was accompanied by others.

The suit went uncontested. Alimony was set at $250 a month for so long as Akeley continues to make his present salary, which was said to be $6,000 a year.

Immediately after the slaying of Schneider, who was shot to death at the wheel of his automobile on a lonely road, Mrs. Buzzi was held for several days without bail as a material witness and later released. Two witnesses told of seeing a woman leave the scene of the murder, but neither was able to identify her.

The suit went uncontested. Alimony was set at $250 a month for so long as Akeley continues to make his present salary, which was said to be $6,000 a year.

ADAIR'S CHARGES TO BE CONSIDERED

Adair and Howell Will Appear Before Council School Committee on McCalley Indemnity Bonds.

Charged that the board of education illegally awarded surety contracts for school buildings to the National Surety Company, of which School Commissioner J. W. McCalley, Jr. is local agent, will be considered by the school committee of council at its regular meeting at 3 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon.

This information was contained in a letter Thursday afternoon from Councilman Edgar Watkins, chairman of the school committee of council to Forrest Adair, who, with G. Arthur Howell, made the charges.

Following receipt of the letter Mr. Adair announced that he and Mr. Howell would appear before the committee and reiterate charges contained in a petition filed with council last Monday in which that body's attention was called to the alleged irregularities.

The contention of Mr. Adair and Mr. Howell is that Commissioner McCalley acted illegally when, as chairman of the finance and building committee, he approved bonds on 58 contracts that were placed with his own company. The petition cited a law against any municipal officer entering into a contract with the city by which he would be benefited financially by such contract.

City Attorney James L. Mayson ruled that Mr. McCalley acted legally and within the law in approving the contracts for the company he represents in that he was drawing a salary and not benefiting by commissions on such contracts.

CROSSTOWN FREIGHT RELIEF TO BE ASKED

Shippers' Committee to Stop Use of Cars Needed to Move Fertilizer.

Appointment of a committee to induce local shippers to refrain from using freight cars for crosstown switching in order to release 400 cars for use in the fertilizer movement, was announced Thursday following a conference of local shippers at the offices of the Atlanta Freight Bureau.

Recently carriers in this section asked the public service commission of Georgia to issue an order placing a temporary embargo on crosstown switching. At the request of officials of the freight bureau, the commission held the matter in abeyance to give the bureau an opportunity to see if local shippers would co-operate in the matter without being compelled to do so.

It is estimated that 400 freight cars are used monthly by local carriers for hauling loads from point to point in the city. At this season the embargo is being implemented due to the fertilizer movement placing a considerable shortage, freight bureau officials stated, and efforts will be made to induce shippers voluntarily to make load hauls by truck and dray.

If local shippers co-operate with carriers in the matter, it was stated, the carriers permanently will withdraw efforts to secure an embargo on crosstown hauls.

The freight bureau committee consists of H. G. King, F. B. Porter, M. S. Harper, T. E. Addison, J. E. Raley, J. T. Hiers, J. R. Bachman, C. H. Dudley and H. T. Moore.

GEORGIA SCHOOLS TOLD TO OBSERVE TEMPERANCE DAY

Acting under requirements of a law passed at the last session of the legislature, Dr. M. M. Parks, state school superintendent, has notified all county and district school officials that today, Friday, March 29, must be observed as "Temperance day" in all schools of the state. At least two hours should be devoted to a temperance program of an educational nature.

The law, passed by the 1922 legislature, which makes the fourth Friday in March "Temperance day," reads as follows:

"On Temperance day at last two hours shall be devoted in the public schools of this state, to a program which shall be educational in nature, teaching the good of temperance and prohibition and the evils of intemperance and disobedience to law."

SMOKE NUISANCE IN ATLANTA HIT BY ROY LECRAW

"Only two cities in the United States have a worse smoke problem than Atlanta, and these are Birmingham and Pittsburgh," Roy LeCraw told the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at luncheon Thursday in the chamber of commerce cafeteria.

LeCraw urged that further action be taken in eliminating the smoke nuisance be taken and recommended an amount of the expense in Atlanta of $2,000 paid for cleaning the Candler buildings before injury to health of citizens.

Following the luncheon an industrial tour of the Morris Candy factory was made by 40 members of the organization. It was agreed that an industrial tour of some important manufacturing concern or of a place of interest would be made weekly.

The club was entertained by aesthetic dances and vocal solos by Miss Myrtle Cox and little Miss Freda Sullivan. George Myers presided.

WOUNDED BURGLAR SOUGHT BY POLICE

Eph Neims, negro, is being held in Fulton county jail under a charge of burglary, while county officers Thursday searched for two alleged confederates, one of whom is believed to have been wounded by Bailiff W. C. Morris as they fled.

Neims and his two companions, it is claimed, were discovered by J. Morrow, president of the Morris Transfer and Storage company, engaged in robbing of the company's stables on West Pace's Ferry road. Mr. Morrow summoned Bailiff Morris, who lived close by, and as they approached the stables the negroes fled.

Officer Morris began shooting one negro falling and cutting his leg. Officer Morris pursued the other two, running Neims the third and making his escape. The wounded negro had disappeared upon the officers return from the chase, and no clues as to his whereabouts have been obtained.

THIEVES AND LOOT FOUND BY POLICE

A number of articles stolen from the homes of Mrs. W. H. Bowen, 357 Lee street, and R. N. Phillip, 203 Oak street, were recovered by Detectives Hartwell, Lee, Turner and B. E. Moon, who arrested the offenders charged with burglarizing these residences.

According to the officers, the negroes confessed and told them where they set by the commission for April 10.

Royal Wilton Rugs in Full Room Size

Special, $79.50

Rug prices are up. This fact is pretty well known in Atlanta, for we, as well as other local merchants, have commented on the fact in our newspaper advertisements.

Right now, it is our good fortune to have in hand ample stocks of high-grade domestic rugs which we own on the basis of lower mill prices ruling last fall.

Take these Royal Wilton rugs for example. They measure 9x12 feet. From Sloane, Karlsruhe and other good makers. In conventional, Oriental, Chinese and the large floral patterns that are so new and in such demand.

If you will take the trouble to enquire around, you'll find that most stores are asking $95 for rugs of this size in identical qualities.

Surely the difference between $95 and our special price of $79.50 is sufficient inducement for you to buy one of these Royal Wilton rugs at High's.

ACCUSED SHERIFF CLAIMS FRAME-UP

Federal Agents and Liquor Runners Combined to "Get" Him in Revenge, Garner Declares.

That he and his two deputies are victims of a frame-up because of their intensive campaign against liquor-runners and bootleggers, was the statement Thursday of Sheriff E. S. Garner, of Gwinnett county, who was taken into custody Wednesday night with his son, Deputy Sheriff Howard Garner, and Deputy G. M. Bernard, at their home near Lawrenceville, by federal officers on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

The three men were released on bonds of $1,000 each after they were taken before United States Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter, who set the preliminary trial for March 31 at the request of the defense attorneys, Len B. Guillebeau and A. O. Nixon.

Charge "Crooked" Work.

"We have been made the victims of a frame-up," declared Sheriff Garner. "The claim of the running of the moon, screen thrown out by officers and other interested parties for the purpose of covering up their own crooked operations.

"Last year my office was responsible for the capture of more liquor cars and liquor, I believe, than any other sheriff's office in the state. This action is nothing more than an attempt by the moon, screen thrown out by officers and other interested parties for the purpose of covering up their own crooked operations.

"I know nothing about any marked money, which federal officers claim to have found in the possession of my son, who I told was Deputy Sheriff. He told me that he was at his home in Norcross last night when a man came into his house and thrust a roll of bills in his hand. Bernard tells me he asked the man what his object was in presenting him with the bills, when he was seized by several federal officers and arrested."

Had Right to Work.

Sheriff Garner declared he had recently been approached by bootleggers or their agents and offered monetary inducements provided he would accede to their requests to allow whisky machines to pass through Gwinnett county. He repudiated these offers, he said, and notified the men that he would be on the lookout for them if they attempted to haul liquor through Gwinnett county.

George F. Golding, special agent, of the United States intelligence department, who preferred the charges against the three men, in commenting on Sheriff Garner's charges that he was framed, declared he did not care to discuss the charges other than to say he would welcome information from the sheriff regarding the frame-up.

"If sheriff Garner has any evidence to show that government officials attempted to frame him," asserted Mr. Golding, "he should turn it over to the United States district attorney or myself and it shall receive careful attention. Aside from this I do not care to comment on the case."

Mrs. Lowe Awarded $28,125 From Wight And Taxi Company

The death of her husband in an automobile accident on Edgewood avenue in April, 1921, Mrs. Walter Lowe, in Fulton superior court for $75,000 damages, Thursday was awarded to the widow of the man against G. Ward Wight, prominent realtor.

Judge E. D. Thomas their intention to ask for a new trial, Bryan & Middlebrooks represented the Yellow Cab company, while Candler, Thompson & Hirsch were counsel for Mr. Lowe, who was represented by Attorney Walter S. Dillon, with whom her husband was associated in practice prior to his death.

Mr. Lowe was killed as he started to cross Edgewood avenue near the Hurt building. He was caught on the fender of Wight's machine and a Yellow cab then collided, pinning him between the two cars. Wight claimed that Lowe stepped from behind a man into the path of his machine and that the accident was unavoidable.

BALM OF SPRING SOOTHES WOUNDS OF WINTRY SPELL

Another day in which the healing balm of sunshine poured by spring upon the wounds resulting from winter's ferocious onslaught, was experienced in Atlanta Thursday, the mercury rising to 69 degrees.

Today, however, is expected to bring forth showers with a slight lowering of the temperature for tonight, according to C. C. Julian Herrmann, Atlanta's meteorologist.

The report states that weather conditions are unsettled in all sections of the United States, with a slight cloudiness and rain at widely separated stations. The river forecast states that the Flint would just escape reaching the flood stage Thursday, and the Apalachicola is expected to reach a stage of 21 feet at the Chattahoochee, however, will fall.

"Resolved, That the United States should cancel the debts owed to her by the nations associated with her in the late war."

One Agnes Scott team will meet Sophie Newcomb, who will be called in Decatur tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Miss Pocahontas Wight, of Richmond, Va., and Miss Daisy Frances Smith, of Atlanta, will debate the affirmative side for Agnes Scott; Miss Virginia Butler and Miss Ula Milner will argue the negative for Sophie Newcomb. The Agnes Scott negative team left Thursday to meet the Randolph-Macon team in Lynchburg. The team from the college of Macon, Quenelle Harrell, of Americus, and Miss Valeria Poser, of Liberty, S. C.

Agnes Scott has won the affirmative and negative sides from the other two colleges for the last two years.

in Large Concerns.

Macon, Ga., March 22.—H. M. Wortham, Macon capitalist, died at his home here tonight after a long illness. He was vice president of the Dunlap Hardware company, and a director of the Georgia, Southern and Florida railway and the Macon Railway and Light company.

Mr. Wortham was in his 65th year. He was born in Richmond, Va., where he spent his early years. He had a large and extensive family of his name in Virginia.

Having married into the family of the late Captain Samuel Scott Dunlap, in the year 1885, he came to Macon and engaged in business with his father-in-law, in which business he continued until he gave to his health, continued to give to the work in which he was engaged, with the greatest energy and closest application, he found time to gratify his taste for literature and few of the city's business men were better posted in matters of history and the doings of the day in the world's affairs.

Mr. Wortham is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nettie Dunlap Wortham, and nine relatives in Virginia. He will be buried in Rose Hill cemetery Saturday afternoon.

G. G. W. McCUTCHEON DIES IN WAYCROSS

Waycross, Ga., March 22.—(Special to the Press)—G. W. McCutcheon, aged 82, died late last night in the residence of his son, G. W. McCutcheon, here. He was in his usual good health yesterday, and was not stricken ill until after he retired for the night.

Mr. McCutcheon is survived by one son, G. W. McCutcheon, of Waycross, and a daughter, Mrs. J. A. Walker, of Savannah. The funeral services and interment were held this afternoon at Mt. Pleasant cemetery at 3:30 o'clock, Rev. Fred Bryant officiating.

REV. W. T. GAULDEN DIES IN QUITMAN, GA.

Quitman, Ga., March 22.—(Special to the Press)—Rev. William T. Gaudent, an outstanding member of the Baptist denomination in south Georgia, widely known throughout the state, and greatly beloved by his people in Quitman. Died this afternoon at the residence of his brother, Dr. S. S. Gaudent, where he had been ill for several years. He was 65 years of age and a native of Brooks county.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Baptist church, conducted by Dr. Roger L. Johnson. Interment will be at Okapilco, the old Gaudent plantation home, where Mr. Gaudent was born.

First woman to be made an associate of the Royal academy in London, was Mrs. Swynnerton.

SKATING ORDINANCE TO BE ARGUED TODAY

Council Ordinance Committee to Hear Jitney Drivers on Accident Bonds.

A public hearing on the resolution introduced in council last Monday by Alderman Jesse W. Armistead, providing for repeal of the ordinance prohibiting the use of sidewalks in the city for roller skating purposes, will be held at 8 o'clock this evening. At the same meeting the committee will extend an opportunity to local jitney drivers to be heard on the ordinance adopted in council requiring them to file a $5,000 indemnity bond with the city clerk before permit to operate is issued to them. Mayor Davis vetoed this ordinance Wednesday in order to permit representatives of the jitney drivers to be heard on it.

Considerable interest in both measures has been manifested since they were acted upon by council and a large delegation representing both issues is expected to appear before the committee.

TAXI DRIVER IS WORSE Assailant Is Held in County Jail at Waycross.

Waycross, Ga., March 22.—(Special to the Press)—O. K. Hawkins, taxi driver who, was shot and severely wounded by Lawrence Palmerston some time ago, is reported to have had a fit for the worse, necessitating another operation. His condition is described as being critical.

For several days after he was shot, the life of Hawkins hung on a thread but for the past ten days he was reported as steadily improving, until a turn for the worse set in yesterday. At the present time Palmerston is being held in the county jail under three charges, the most serious of the three being assault with intent to murder. If he dies, Palmerston will, in all probability, be forced to face a trial for murder.

The train was chartered over the A. & A. railroad and will leave at 9:45 o'clock this evening, connecting with the S. A. L. railroad at 10:34 o'clock at Thadman.

The train will make a through trip to Washington, where Mrs. Weeks will be attended by specialists. Dr. C. B. Green, Brunswick physician, who was called in by Secretary Weeks, declined to state just what was the cause of Mrs. Weeks' illness, but terminated the brief interview with newspaper men with this statement:

"Her illness is not very serious."

There Is Little Hope for Recovery of Mrs. John
Dacus—Children Saved.

Calhoun, Ga., March 22.—(Special)—Mrs. John Dacus was perhaps fatally burned at her home here this morning when a can of oil with which she was lighting a fire exploded.

It is thought that the can contained a mixture of gasoline and kerosene by mistake.

It was only through quick work by neighbors that the home and two small children who were asleep in a bed in the room where the explosion took place were saved.

Mr. Dacus, an automobile mechanic, was not in the house at the time, but when he heard his wife scream he rushed in, accompanied by neighbors, in an effort to save the lives.

Physicians state there is little hope for Mrs. Dacus' recovery.

British Chancellor of Exchequer Rejects Suggestion of Propaganda Campaign in America.

London, March 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Stanley Baldwin rejected in the house of commons today a suggestion by James Erskine, independent conservative member, that he consider a propaganda campaign in America for the purpose of bringing about a more favorable revision of the British war debt agreement.

Mr. Erskine's question was whether the money loaned to us by America had been spent on 100,000 pounds in propaganda in order to enlighten public opinion in the states about the origin and use to which the borrowed money was put. The effect might have been a saving of at least 100,000,000 pounds to the taxpayers of Great Britain and if he will consider the advisability of taking this step now in the light of recent events of the agreement."

Mr. Baldwin said the first part of the "question appeared hypothetical and that he was not prepared to adopt the suggestion in the second part."

Superintendent of American Plant Takes Tanlac After Trying Other Medicines and Says That It Helped Him Regain Health. Feels Like New Man Now.

The Tanlac treatment has produced much pronounced and gratifying results everywhere that up-wards of seventy-five thousand well-known men and women, thousands of them throughout Georgia, have been constrained to speak out in its praise.

Among the latest to express their indebtedness to the medicine is R. Kersley, superintendent of the Farm's Oil and Soap Oil Co. of America, Ga.

Mr. Kersley stated the other day that he began taking Tanlac without letting Mrs. Kersley know about it. But, that after taking one or two bottles, which he kept at his office, his improvement was so pronounced that he remarked about him eating better and looking better, and he then told her his "secret."

"I am positive," said Mr. Kersley, "that I owe the great 'turn round' in my physical state to the few bottles of Tanlac which I took six months ago.

Before taking the treatment I was in a nervous, run-down condition and had symptoms of anæmia.

My joints ached all the time, my appetite and energy, fell off fifteen pounds and got to where I could hardly go.

"After trying numerous medicines without any good results I, of course, became worried about my condition.

One evening when I had gone home feeling badly depressed I read of Tanlac and determined to give it a trial. The first bottle made a great improvement in my appetite and general condition.

"I used four bottles of Tanlac and as a result I had new life and energy and felt a pleasure in my work. I also gained back ten pounds of my lost weight and my system was so well restored and built up that I have not even had a cold since.

In fact, I feel absolutely different person. If I ever need medicine again it's Tanlac for me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.—(adv.)

Lexington, Ky., March 22.—It is known today that Harry P. Farnum has bought 125,000 acres of coal land on the Kentucky river in Clay and Leslie counties at a price said to run from $12,000,000 to $20,000,000.

The tract is owned by the Peabody interests of Chicago and is situated principally in Clay and Leslie counties, with a small portion in Harlan county. The lands are penetrated by the branch of the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

It is said that Lexington will be the base of headquarters when operations get under way.

It could not be learned to what extent Mr. Farnum will develop the property or construct independent transportation lines to be a part of the development, the article continued.

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel,
Washington, March 22.—(By Constitution Leased Wire)—It was learned today that the department of agriculture working in co-operation with the department of commerce, is giving serious consideration to the possibility of spending the sum of $100,000 in the South for the purpose of determining whether rubber can be produced in that section of the country on a commercial scale. The information was disclosed in an interview with Dr. Frank M. Surface, special agent of the bureau of domestic and foreign commerce, who is in charge of the recently appointed commission to investigate agricultural export problems.

The proposed investigation of the feasibility of producing rubber in the southern states comes in connection with the congressional appropriation of $500,000, made in the closing days of congress, for the purpose of conducting a thorough inquiry into agricultural export problems and to determine the feasibility of producing in the United States for export those commodities over which other countries now have a monopoly.

Secretary Hoover of the department of commerce, has already announced the appointment of a commission for the purpose, and the first meeting will be held Saturday, at which time a working plan will be agreed upon. Charles E. Barlett, of Atlanta, Ga., and president of the National Farmers' Union, is a member of the commission, which comprises prominent representatives of the agricultural and export trade.

Dr. Surface, who directed the world food surveys for the food administration during the war, said today that while the work of the Service Fund in the south in connection with the rubber industry was not mandatory, it was probable that officials would do so. He stated that a preliminary investigation of the southern territory would be made, and if conditions were found suitable a number of experimental stations would be established. The location of the stations will be determined by the preliminary investigation, it was stated.

This Afternoon.

Miss Lutie Holland, who died at Wesley Memorial Hospital early Thursday morning, will be buried this afternoon in Oakland cemetery, following funeral services in the chapel of Barclay & Brandon at 2:30 o'clock. Pallbearers will be John Redwine, Jr., Asa Candler, Jr.; Ernest Bell, Mark Hightower, E. R. Craighead and F. M. Stewart.

For more than 20 years Miss Holland had been one of the foremost educators of the state. Many prominent men and women of Atlanta gained their first knowledge of the alphabet from "Miss Lutie," as she was always called by her pupils.

She taught in the Atlanta public schools for over 10 years. When the first playground was inaugurated in Atlanta, Mrs. Holland and some of the initial volunteers offered services for entertainment and supervision of the children. She served through the summer months with no remuneration. Later she was appointed a staff member of the playground committee and at the time of her death was at the head of the department.

In addition to her successful work in the city's school, she headed the laymen's department of the First Christian church for 10 years.

Miss Holland's grandfather, E. W. Holland, of Gainesville, was the owner of New Holland Springs, which at one time was one of Georgia's most famous resorts. He was one of the founders and first directors of the Atlanta National Bank.

She was the daughter of the late Edward Holland and Kate Bell Holland, who moved to Atlanta many years ago. She is the sister of Mrs. John Redwine, of Gainesville; Mrs. William Slaughter, of Athens; Gray Holland, and Miss Annie, Kate and Pat Holland, of Atlanta.

A year or two ago, with the pioneer spirit which animated her grandfather when he bought the New Holland Springs, she purchased a large tract of land near Emory university, where she lived with her three younger sisters, surrounded with books, music and flowers, creating a charming center of culture and happiness sought by all who knew the little group.

TRADE-IN-ATLANTA DRIVE IS PLANNED

Merchants' Association
Directors Meet Thursday to Perfect Plans for Co-Operative Advertising Movement.

Plans for a co-operative advertising campaign that would acquaint Atlantans and visitors from surrounding territory with the advantages of trading with local retail merchants, were made Thursday night by the board of directors of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association at its regular monthly session at the chamber of commerce.

A committee will be named within the next few days to confer with chamber of commerce officials and others to determine upon methods not in use that would serve to familiarize the public with commercial and civic advantages offered by Atlanta retail merchants.

The association indorsed the new traffic regulations adopted last Monday by city council and a report was made by its committee which aided the traffic committee of council in devising the new ordinance.

During the summer months it is the plan of the association to inaugurate a series of talks about retail merchandise so as to improve the present system of dealing with the public.

Announcement was made by W. M. Hicks, chairman of the membership committee, that the general membership of the association will be held at 6:30 o'clock next Thursday night in the assembly room at the chamber of commerce.

Further Reductions In Postal Service Ordered by Large

Further curtailment in Atlanta postal service in compliance with the policy of economy ordered by the Washington authorities, was announced. The Hon. E. P. Potentate Large, who stated that beginning Monday the stamp window will close at 7 o'clock instead of an hour later, has been customary. Mr. Large stated that he would endeavor to keep the general delivery window open until 8 o'clock.

Window reductions have been decided upon after a full investigation." Mr. Large said. "For more than a week all clerks after 6 p. m. have kept a record of the number of patrons who came to their windows during the half-hour periods intervening before 8 p. m. And as a result, I feel confident that the paring off of a few hours of service will not cause any great inconvenience in the future."

Mr. Large added that he thought every possible cut had now been made, and is working to prevent further reductions.

Auto Thief's Offense Charged to Councilman Whose Car Was Stolen

Councilman R. F. Pennington, from the First ward, was summoned by the police to answer the charge of violating the traffic laws as the result of his automobile being parked illegally by some one who "borrowed" it without the owner's consent.

Mr. Pennington, who left his automobile in Broad street near Alabama for a few moments, but found it gone upon his return. He reported the theft to the police, and several hours afterward it was found by B. H. Hill within two blocks of the point where it was stolen.

Attached to the steering wheel was a note which read: "I am here to answer charges of violating the traffic ordinances." Assistant Chief E. L. Jett ordered the charges dropped upon learning the circumstances.

MODERN COOKING IS DEMONSTRATED AT COCHRAN STORE

The manufacturers of Florence Automatic oil cook stove are holding a free cooking demonstration at Cochran Furniture company's store. Mrs. Lyde, an expert in domestic science, has personal charge of the demonstration. Much helpful information to the housewife may be had by attending these lectures where the fine arts of cooking will be explained and tempting dishes of many kinds will be prepared and served.

FOG VISITS SAVANNAH Blanket So Dense Vision Is Difficult.

Savannah, Ga., March 22.—(Special)—For only an hour this morning Savannah was visited by the heaviest fog experienced in many years, so dense was it that a huge ice truck, loaded with two or three tons of ice, ran plumb into a Coast Line switch engine crossing Lincoln street and was thrown many feet, the driver escaping injury by almost a miracle.

Mr. Large added that he thought every possible cut had now been made, and is working to prevent further reductions.

SUPPOSEDLY POISONED GIRL FLEES HOSPITAL

Roaming about somewhere is a pretty young woman, beautifully dressed, who Thursday afternoon fled from the hospital where she had been admitted as doctors prepared to set in operation the stomach pumps to remove a supposed dose of poison. She left without giving her name, or telling what she took. Neither did she explain why or how she took the poison.

The young woman had come from 324 Angier avenue, according to statements of Dr. G. W. Gandy, who received an emergency call to that address. They had found her lying on the bed, convulsed with pain and hysterical.

Intent to Avoid Anti-Lash Rule Seen by Walker

Scores Course Adopted at Session Here—Prison Officials
Seek Return of Flogging.

Characterizing the resolution adopted by county commissioners and county wardens in session here Thursday as a "flimsy pretext to avoid the anti-lash order of Governor Hardwick," and deplored the prison officials' decision to ask the next general assembly to return the lash to Georgia prison camps, Charles N. Walker, chairman of the church's prison commission, Thursday night voiced strenuous protest at the proposed course.

"The resolution adopted by the prison officials," stated Mr. Walker, "definitely specifies in its beginning relatively humane methods of punishment to be employed in lieu of the abolished lash, and, in its conclusion, proposes 'any such other mode of punishment as will suggest itself' to the warden in charge and suitable to the situation."

"This is equivalent to placing the means of punishment entirely within the jurisdiction of the warden, so long as he does not whip prisoners. I have before me a newspaper account of charges against a Jacksonsville prison official in which it is stated that he buried convicts in the earth to their necks, poured bull ants down their backs and inflicted other horrors on defenseless men."

Indefinite Resolution.

"Under the resolution drawn up at the session, the warden, as the means of punishment could be resorted to in Georgia, prison officials, it seems, would be definitely instructed to avoid flogging, but then are informed that any other procedure they could devise would be all right."

"The situation in Georgia demands a definite statement of what means of punishment the officials may employ. That is the only safe course. The one determined on Thursday would leave revenge and cruelty still in the seat."

"One commendable feature about the resolution is that it specifies solitary confinement to take the place of whipping. However, it lacks that tone of humanity and encouragement of moral conduct which is needed. The sole thought of the prison leaders seemed to be along lines of punishment. What they should provide is a humane system of fair, decent treatment and encouragement of unfortunate men under their control."

Mr. Walker declared that his organization, which for years has waged war on the lash in Georgia prison camps, will bitterly resist all attempts to bring back flogging.

Stormy Resolution.

The prison officials at a stormy session held in the chamber of the house of representatives adopted resolutions embodying a new rule in the administration of county convict camps, intended to provide means of punishment for unruly convicts, to take the place of the lash.

Just before adjournment of the meeting a resolution introduced by Judge J. K. Davis, of Fulton county, was adopted, requiring that the next legislature authorize the use of the lash in the camps and remove the prison commission from under the control of the governor. This resolution was passed in substitute for one introduced by H. H. Elders, attorney for the Tattman county commission, which proposed that the gathering go on record as advising the county commissioners and wardens to "pay no attention" to Governor Hardwick's order.

New regulations as given herewith in the text of the adopted resolution, will be put into effect at once and it is believed by the wardens that their provisions for substitution of solitary confinement and enforced standing shackled in all the camps, will largely subdue the need of the lash in controlling unruly prisoners.

Text of Resolution.

During the session, which was attended by about 300, Governor Hardwick was both condemned and applauded for his action in stopping flogging as a means of punishment in Georgia prison camps. At times the meeting progressed under intense excitement, as the wardens and commissioners would press forward toward the speaker's podium, in their anxiety to assess their point.

The text of the resolution finally adopted, providing the new means of punishment, is as follows:

"Substitute for the third and fourth paragraphs of rule No. 12, prescribing the duties of wardens, page 8 of the book of rules:

"They shall safely keep all prisoners committed to their charge, rigidly enforce discipline by the use of such humane modes of punishment as will best enforce submission to the authorities and compel and induce the prisoners to good and faithful behavior during work hours, such as solitary confinement, restriction of diet, restriction of privilege of receiving visitors and other privileges usually accorded first-class prisoners, using shackles and chains and handcuffing the hands and feet for the purpose of confining them, fastening their hands in an elevated position above the head while they are compelled to stand upright and such other mode of punishment as will suggest itself to the warden in charge and suitable to the situation."

Christian Endeavorers Charter Special Train For Macon Convention

A special train has been chartered to carry the Atlanta delegation to Macon for the eighth annual state convention of the Georgia Christian Endeavor union, which opens on April 20, at the First Presbyterian church, it was announced Thursday.

More than 1,000 delegates are expected to attend the meeting. The first junior convention for the state of Georgia will hold its convention during this time. The Atlanta delegation is also expected at this meeting. A one and one-half rate for the round trip has been announced by the railroads. While the full details of the program have not been completed, the speakers will include E. P. Gates, general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor; Charles E. Underhill, general secretary of the Atlanta extension committee; C. J. Matthews, field secretary for Florida and Georgia; Miss Mamie Gene Cole, all-south junior superintendent; S. Wilkes Dendy, former field secretary for Georgia.

The state officers are Clyde E. Underhill, president; George R. Rusk, vice president; Miss Edna Browning, secretary; J. S. Wicks, treasurer.

SHRINE CIRCUS PARADES STREETS NOON THURSDAY

Yaarab Temple's Shrine circus parade was held Thursday at noon, deferred from Monday, opening day, on account of the frigid blasts that swept Atlanta's streets. It was greeted Thursday by warm sunshine, gentle zephyrs from the south, and a multitude of people who lined the sidewalks along Peachtree, Broad, Mitchell, Whitehall and Edgewood, through which it wended its way from Shrine headquarters on Ponce de Leon Avenue.

The parade was led by a platoon of mounted police, followed by Yaarab's band, patrol, chanters and Oriental band. Then came Potentate Gibson and the divan, followed by the twenty-seven imported circus performers in automobiles; Wilmer's lions being drawn in cages by a huge truck, followed by horses used by the Dave Cossell company, ponies and trick mules used by Hill's Circus.

Seven funny clowns brought up the rear of the parade, being featured in a brass band that made more discords and fun than has been seen and heard on Atlanta's streets in some time.

The warm weather of Thursday resulted in two packed houses, the matinee performances being signalized by a multitude of youngsters who took advantage of the afternoon hours of starting the performance. The Shrine circus will continue Friday and Saturday, doors being open at 1 and 7 p. m., the performances beginning at 2:45 and 8:00 p. m. Admission is 50 cents; children under 12 are admitted to the matinee performances for 25 cents.

GREGG IS SENTENCED FOR STEALING MAIL

A fine of $1,200 with an alternative of one year and a day in the federal penitentiary was imposed Thursday afternoon by Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley on Peyton W. Gregg, who was convicted 12th district court of theft.

Gregg, formerly an employee of the local postoffice, was taken into custody by postal inspectors last November as he was leaving the office and several special delivery letters containing currency were found in his pockets, according to testimony.

Testifying in his own behalf, Gregg admitted possession of the letters, but claimed he had taken them with no intention of stealing the contents. He declared he recognized them as "test" letters which he stated had been coming through his department frequently, and that he was tired of such practice.

At a previous hearing before Judge Sibley the case resulted in a mistrial.

Attorney Hooper Alexander represented the defendant.

HURT BY ROOF, SUES Landlady Held Responsible by Mrs. Donahoe.

Alleging that the roof of the house she occupied caved in and struck her on the head, Mrs. J. J. Donahoe, of Wiens road, Thursday filed a damage suit in Fulton superior court asking $10,000 from Mrs. Edith M. Pinkard, of 509 Creek street, from whom she rents the property. Party construction was blamed for the accident.

KIRKWOOD HOME LOOTED BY YEGGS

More Than $2,000 in Money and Jewelry Lost by C. W. Harper—Burglars Make Getaway.

A rich haul consisting of $110 in cash and more than $2,000 in jewelry and expensive clothing was obtained by burglars who made off with the goods of C. W. Harper in Kirkwood some time during the early part of Thursday night while the family was absent.

Upon returning home Mr. Harper discovered the house ransacked from top to bottom, drawers relieved of contents and furnishings scattered all about the floor. A side window was forced open and the burglars evidently using a jimmy to gain entrance. Mr. Harper reported to police.

The loot consisted of gold rings, pins, watches, pearls, silverware, silk shirts and other wearing apparel. A savings bank in which was deposited $100 in coins, together with a $10 bill, was removed from its place in a bureau.

A thorough investigation was conducted by detectives, but few clues were found, the officers reported.

Officers Stand at Attention as Iowa Sinks Beneath Waves.

Aboard U. S. S. Maryland, Panama Bay, March 22.—(By Wireless to the Associated Press)—Amid strains of the Star Spangled Banner, and the firing of national salutes the old battleship Iowa sank late today. After a shelling by the super dreadnaught Mississippi, 14-inch rifles, the battered hulk turned slowly over on its side and slid beneath the waves.

Secretary Denby, member of the congressional party, identified and observing ships, companies stood at attention in silent tribute to the once gallant ship that won fame in the destruction of Cervera's fleet at Santiago.

With this dramatic climax the winter maneuvers of the United States fleet ended. For part of two days the Iowa withstood the battering from the Mississippi, which had walled shells, but her end came within 17 minutes after the super dreadnaught opened up with service shells from a range of approximately nine miles.

Nine five-guns salvos were fired.

The first went wide but the second carried the Iowa's death blow, one shell hitting at the water line, smashing through the thick armor and exploding inside. At least five other direct hits were scored hastening the end.

Before using service shells the Mississippi fired 120 rounds of special shells.

Salvo after salvo struck the bulk, carrying away the forward smokestack, riddling ventilators and the superstructure, and tearing nearly a dozen holes in the hull from stem to stern.

It had been the intention to maneuver the Iowa by radio control during the firing but just before this started the apparatus became deranged and the ship wallowed helplessly in the sea as shells rained down upon her.

The second salvo of the first attack started up her boilers, smoke pouring out of the funnels.

When the second salvo started fires on her deck, but these were extinguished by columns of water thrown up by explosions of shells close by. Near the end, fuel oil ignited, the smoke pouring from the hull.

Use your convenient metropolitan bank backed by The Fourth National's entire resources of more than $30,000,000, and radiating genuine Fourth National service; each Fourth National branch furnishes its surrounding community a noteworthy combination of metropolitan facilities and neighborhood convenience.

There's a fourth national branch near you, offering you many distinct advantages—you can reach it quickly, park your car, save valuable time, and yet have added benefit of the soundness and security of a strong national bank under strict government supervision.

Boys and girls who want to save—women to whom spare moments count—busy business men who value their time—all these find our branches outstandingly adapted to their needs.

The opportunity of serving you will be cordially welcomed; and you will find a banking connection with The Fourth National a decidedly fortunate asset.

taking the products of the mines away, such quantities have accumulated that the mines are beginning to choke up and that work will have to be suspended unless the occupying authorities find some way of removing the coal.

There seems no question but that the members of parliament, as well as the French people, are still virtually solid behind Premier Poincaré in applying rigidly the penalties imposed upon Germany and the seizing of guarantees, but there are evidences of a growing desire among certain groups in the chamber of deputies to discuss the ways and means of such application and bring out whether the policy thus far followed has been exactly what the situation required.

SIXTY GERMANS ARRESTED.

Buer, March 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Sixty persons are reported to have been arrested by Belgian patrols in Aachen and Bottrop and imprisoned on charges of harboring and protecting well-known individuals, to bring money into the Ruhr. In Dusseldorf the French seized at a post office 15,000,000 marks which had been sent there for one of the strike leaders to collect and distribute among the workmen under government pay.

PROTEST MEETINGS.

Frankfurt-on-Main, March 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Communist demonstrations are to be held in all the countries of the world from April 15 to 22 a part of an international protest week program directed primarily against the occupation of the Ruhr, according to a resolution adopted at the closing session of the international communist conference here this week. The resolutions says, also shall include demonstrations against the treaty of Versailles, the danger of war, and against fascism.

NEW ENGLANDERS TO BOOST GEORGIA

New England Society Will Organize Saturday to Join Georgia Industrial Drive.

Several hundred New England colored men and women and natives of New England will meet at the city club, 17 Poplar street, at 12:30 o'clock Saturday to organize a New England society, it was announced Thursday by a committee, composed of W. J. Sayward, F. N. Holman and Newton C. Wing.

One purpose of the society, according to the committee, will be to cooperate with the "Georgians, Incorporated," in bringing to Georgia new industries from the manufacturing centers of the east, in which the members of the society have wide acquaintance.

"Just at this time when efforts are being made to induce cotton mills to come to Georgia, the influence of an association of New England natives and college men would help to fur-

EXPERTS DISCUSS ETHER CONFLICTS

Reduction in Number of Broadcasting Stations Favored by American Phone Company.

Washington, March 22.—Technical problems in connection with the attempt to reallocate wave lengths in an effort to prevent hindrance and suit the interests of commercial, governmental, broadcasting and amateur use of wireless telegraph and telephony continued to keep the national radio conference in executive session today. The announcement of the conference conclusions, Secretary Hoover said, might come tomorrow, but the radio experts and governmental officials concerned intend to stay in session until a schedule of assigned wave lengths is agreed. It is possible then that President Harding may be asked to issue an executive order which would assist in applying their conclusions.

Other conflicts which concern the largest number of people are those arising from multiplication of broadcasting stations which are all trying to reach the 2,000,000 or more private radio receiving sets, it was said, and the American Telephone and Telegraph company, one of the larger corporations interested, took a position before the conference favoring reduction in the number of broadcast stations.

The interests of the numerous receivers should be placed first, according to the corporation's position as stated by A. H. Griswold, its assistant general counsel, and broadcasting stations should be amalgamated to leave one first class station in each large zone. Each sectional station, in the view presented, could then be assigned wave lengths which would not interfere with equally efficient stations in contiguous areas and receiving stations in the private homes could be tuned up and down the wave scales to listen to any program desired.

Citizens' Side Is Given at Hearing Before Legislative Committee.

Harrison, Ark., March 22.—(By the Associated Press)—The citizens' committee of twelve at Harrison did not supersede the Boone county courts and he saw nothing that was done or sanctioned by the committee that would have required the intervention of the court, Karl Greenhaw, serving his third term as prosecuting attorney of the fourth judicial district late today told the special investigating committee of the Arkansas legislature probing the trouble at Harrison last January.

The lynching of E. O. Gregor, striking railroad employee and the whipping of strikers or sympathizers reported had been probed from every angle by the Boone county grand jury, he said. The grand jury was unable to discover anything more than what strikers who had been in the room from which Gregor was taken had testified before the committee at Little Rock. It said. Striking railroad employees at Little Rock testified that Gregor had been taken from the room in which strikers were held at Harrison for further questioning and that he was killed by three men, men whose identity, according to testimony has never been discovered.

The committee nearing the end of the hearing the citizens' side of the disorders along the Missouri & North Arkansas railroad today had in its records contraditory testimony on almost every occurrence referred to by both citizens and strikers.

The next morning he said, another white flag was raised, and the men who had been taken to lay down their arms and come out; that they would not be harmed.

The prisoners were marched a short distance, according to the testimony, when he heard a man he could not identify, make a speech, saying: "Kill all of them and wipe out the breed."

Officer also said that later he had seen C. K. McDowell, crippled railroad employee of the mine led away by two men whom he was unable to identify. On cross examination, Officer was questioned regarding the payment of a check for $1,625.40 to a Chicago detective agency for arms and ammunition sent to the mine for the guards prior to the outbreak. He told of the arrival of the non-union guards and workers at the mine several days before the tragedy.

Millionaire in Alienation Case Defended Before "Beauty Proof" Jury.

Chicago, March 22.—The "beauty proof" jury, hearing the $250,000 alienation of affection suit of Gladys Graham Fox, against her father-in-law, Albert Fuchs, Sr., millionaire realtor, Thursday heard Fuchs painted as a kind, indulgent grand-dad, instead of the cold, heartless monster he was depicted as in the suit he brought against his son, the plaintiff's attorney.

Carleton E. Fox, son of the wealthy defendant, and husband of the beautiful plaintiff, said the elder Fuchs was "simply crazy about our two daughters" and would sit on the floor with them at nights, teaching them to play "peek-a-boo" and other childish games.

Fox Americanized his name during the war.

"When our little baby, Betty, was ill, my wife wanted to cure her by Curtis' medicine. It was because my father said he would bring Dr. Lorenz, the famous 'bloodless' surgeon to treat Betty," Fox testified.

"No, my wife wouldn't have it. The Christian science practitioners failed to do Betty any good. She had a tubercular arm."

"Then when my father and told him of my troubles. He said I had married the girl and must take good care of her, but always was sorry I married secretly because he said it was his desire to have been at his son's wedding," Fox continued.

Several times during his testimony his wife broke out with, "Oh, how could he?" The judge was forced to admonish her to keep silent.

Fox said he finally forced his wife to allow their daughter to go to a cosmetic store for a beauty treatment. He further claimed his wife constantly interfered with his business and "fussed around so that I couldn't do anything without her."

When Sir Genille Cave-Brown-Cave was in America several years ago, working as a croupier in the "Casino," he met a woman who asked, "What did you say your name was?" "Cave-Brown-Cave," said the baronet. "What's yours?" "Me?" Oh, I'm Holmes Sweet Holmes,"—Pittsburgh Post.

At Quiet Home Ceremony

A marriage of interest to a wide circle of friends here was that of Miss Margaret Gran Bankston and Harry Charles Bunch, which took place on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Charles Bunch, on East North Avenue.

Dr. S. R. Belk performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

The bridal party stood for the ceremony before a bank of palms and ferns at one end of the living room.

Miss June Bankston, sister of the bride, who was maid of honor, wore navy blue crepe de chine, with a large hat of the same shade. Her corsage was of Ophelia roses.

Sam Keel acted as Mr. Bunch's best man.

Lovely Bride.

The beautiful bride was radiantly lovely in a modish three-piece suit of navy blue poiret twill, worn with swing hat of blue straw. Her corsage was Ophelia roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Bunch was crowned in one ounce crepe with hat to match.

Following the ceremony Mr. Bunch and his bride left for a wedding trip to Jacksonville, Fla. On their return they will reside at 83 East North Avenue.

The admission will be 25 cents, which will include refreshments. The public, as well as all members of the order, is cordially invited.

Bride's Family.

The bride is the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Bankston of Baltimore. She attended school in Baltimore and later she moved to Rome, she attended and graduated from high school there. She has a gracious and charming personality which has won over many friends

SOCIAL ITEMS

Mrs. W. G. Goodrich and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Davis, of Washington, D. C., will arrive this week to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lanier Smith.

Misses Erskine Jarnagin, Francis Locke, Mrs. McKeithen Tucker and Mrs. Gilmore Greene are the guests of Mrs. T. G. Greene in Eatonton, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stanley Felers, of Quantico, Va., announce the birth of a daughter who has been named Ellison Bedell. The little girl is the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Bedell, of Atlanta.

Miss Elise Sparrow is the guest of Mrs. Eugene Caton, at her home on East Tenth street.

Miss Hallie Poole is visiting friends in Tampa, Fla.

Misses Kathleen and Hallie Watson left Wednesday for a visit to friends in south Georgia. They attended the Peach Festival in Fort Valley Thursday.

Miss Annie Lou Hardin, of Senoia, Ga., was in Atlanta Thursday en route to New York, where she will be the guest of Miss Joseph Craittenden.

Mrs. P. H. Jeter is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver at Plains, Ga.

Mr. D. W. Stewart will entertain the members of the Chatters Bridge club at luncheon today at her home on Adams street in Decatur.

Miss Fannie Lamar Manley and Mrs. Norton to Give Concert.

Mrs. Annie Mae Taurman Norton, organist and dramatic soprano, will give a delightful concert at St. Paul's Methodist church this evening at 8:15 o'clock.

Mrs. Norton will be assisted by some of the most prominent artists in Atlanta, among whom are the Volpi quartet, composed of W. N. Massengale, Thomas Dendy, John Cloworthy and William Van Gaudenton, with Signor E. Volpi, accompanist; Mrs. R. N. Littlefield, reader; Miss Vivian Harris, dramatic soprano; Mrs. M. E. Patterson, pianist, and Mrs. O. S. Brown, lyric soprano, and Homer Franklin, tenor.

No admission will be charged, but a free will offering will be taken. The proceeds to go to Circle No. 8 of St. Paul's church. The public is cordially invited.

"March Hen" Silver Tea.

The "March Hen" silver tea which was to have been held April 14 will be given March 29 at the home of Mrs. J. P. Allen, 53 Peachtree street, by her daughter, Mrs. Robert Quin and Mrs. Edwin Yancey. This tea is in compliment to the "Young Matrons' Circle" of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Christian church. All members of the church and any of its friends are most cordially invited to be present. The hours are from 3 until 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Moore Honors Miss Nellie Gray.

An enjoyable event on Thursday's social calendar was the luncheon at which Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Jr., entertained informally at the Capitol City Club complimentary to Miss Nellie Gray, of Memphis, Tenn., the attractive guest of Miss Virginia Peacock.

The prettily appointed table held in the center a cluster of spring flowers.

The guests included:

Misses Gray, Peacock, Sarah Orme, Mary Shedd and Louise Iman.

RELATED PENITENCE.
Who's Who in the Story.
I ran away from my fiance, Larry, a man who dances well. His wife, Mrs. Larry, shows me the folly of my action and becomes my friend. I return home. My engagement is announced, though my affections are elsewhere.
My Stranger, who stayed to my coming-out party and whose name I refused to listen to because I believed we never could be friends. While we were the girl whom Jonathan hired to act as my substitute at my engagement party because he found myself unavailable, I was caught shoplifting. She involves me and shows her ring, which duplicates my engagement ring, as proof that we are conniving together. Mrs. Larry takes a lawyer and goes to court with me. The trial is unrepresented. My Stranger takes her place. I am sentenced to a light sentence. Later in the day Jonathan asks me to change the date of our wedding.

Should a bride take with her into her husband's home the fragments of another love?

I gathered my personal things today and put them in the bottom of my trunk. It seemed odd to be doing that. Somewhat as if I were only going on a journey from which I should soon return and want them all.

Want them all? Will I ever have the right to do them again to want that bunch of worthless posses and the card attached, which I laid so tenderly in tissue paper?

My Stranger! My lovely Stranger who sent them to me!

What an odd tangle my life has come to! The girl whom my fiance fears a breach of promise suit, defended in a shoplifting case by the man I love. And I can't have him now. I can't have him now. I am treasuring roses that he sent me weeks ago and taking them with me to my bridal home!

My wedding gown came today. A symphony of satin, lace and pearls. The heavy train winding sinuously

A Stirring Serial of Primitive Passions

CHAPTER XX.

"A Woman Waits." Deidre walked quicker. He accelerated his pace.

She looked round nervously. Was the man a "rake"? Her ears were trained through hard experience to sound of every footfall.

Warwick Tremen saw her turn, and slackened, so as to reassure her. A taxi came along. He hailed it, telling the man to drive straight on until required to stop.

They passed her in the same direction, but it wasn't until he was far along the road that Warwick Tremen stopped the car and got out, with a heavy step. The street was busier here. There were lots of hurrying men of his height and figure.

"She'll not see me, if I keep my hat well down. And anyway I must have changed tremendously."

Still, she had seen that fairly recent photograph, and spotted a fugitive likeness. That gave this queer a spic of humor that was curiously exhilarating.

If she did recognize him, there was no real harm that she could do. Whatever she knew or didn't know about him, she could bring forth no definite proof.

And he had one big, damning fact against her that would counterbalance anything and everything that she might say. His lips formed a cruel smile.

But it would be just as well to keep an eye on her, from a safe vantage point. They must never meet. Maybe she wasn't the same woman—she could see her coming in the distance now—another moment or two, and she would be.

Under the strangely tinted hair and heavy makeup he recognized the pointed "little face—yes?—no?—it couldn't be!" And then he saw the little jagged across the chin that she has got by falling on a frozen stone the day he pushed her—heaven! Twelve years ago, or—more—he'd recognized her anywhere. How they had quarreled!

She had brown hair then, instead of this awful peroxide blonde. But she was the same woman, right enough, here in the same town as himself!

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR WOMEN

When Mr. Myers of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, stepped into the drug store and asked his druggist for the best medicine for his wife's nervous woman's ills, is it any wonder he was handed a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Mrs. L. K. Myers in writing of it says: "I had been weak, run down and had a pain in my left side for a long time, so I could not do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me in a short time so I was able to do all of my housework, including washing and ironing, and now I feel fine all the time." As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for benefiting 98 women out of every 100 women who take it, it will pay every suffering woman to try it.—(adv.)

Cocoonut Oil Makes
A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoonut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonsfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten your hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, and ruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoonut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—(adv.)

at the back makes me feel diminutive. And that is all the feeling I have regarding it. It is thrill-less.

The soft frilly intimate things which fill books after giving me such a feeling, something which it seems to me, verges on guilt. I want to keep them, keep them shut away in their boxes as I wanted to shut away from My Stranger on that night so long ago, when I answered his kisses, the plan for my future with Jonathan.

Sold!

Possibly being so near the sacrificial altar gives one the feeling that an hour in church is good. Anyhow, I am coming along, all the way down to St. Paul's chapel, which stays so contentedly unchanged in New York's busiest section.

Mrs. Larry was there. I caught a glimpse of her in her pew as I entered the church. There was something familiar about the sleek black head beside her own.

Just as I approached the man beside her turned and faced me. It was Larry! Larry! And with his wife! I had never seen them before. At some point it was a different Larry. His face had changed somehow, aged, and, it seemed, sobered. He smiled. It was a different smile. One that I felt I could answer frankly and with no reservations.

It gave me a sense of happiness, singularly fitting to the day and the place.

I'm coming over tomorrow morning to help get you into your things—if I may!" said Mrs. Larry.

And, of course, I shall be glad to have her.

Larry, she told me, in a moment we had alone, had been ill. And I think that he has finally found himself—though it is a late day for that.

Plans were made to issue a monthly magazine, the first to appear in June. H. E. Harman, Sr., well-known publisher of several trade magazines, and widely-known as a writer and poet, offered to finance the magazine which will be devoted to interests of southern literature. It will probably be called "Literary Magazine," and contributions will include verse, fiction and articles on history.

The club will meet in the afternoons, twice monthly, and the programs will be devoted to work of the various sections of the club. A monthly dinner will be given in the evening, where good fellowship will be promoted.

By unanimous vote of the large number present the dues were raised singularly fitting to the day and the place.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Better Flavor.
Add a tablespoonful of sugar to the water in which sweet potatoes are boiled. It will improve the flavor.

Concerning Sweaters.
Use a small steel bodkin for joining the seams of a sweater and you will find it makes a neater job than large-eyed needle.

Cooling the Hot Oven.

Place a small dish of water in the bottom of the over-heated oven if you wish to cool it for immediate use. This will quickly reduce the temperature.

Homemade Pincushions.

When making pincushions, insert a piece of cardboard through the center. It will prevent losing the needle in the cushion and also keep the cushion in shape.

The Eternal Eve

BY MAY CHRISTIE

(Continued From Yesterday). Eve folded up the massive and hurried out to the nearest messenger office, holding the letter in her hand. "Please take it at once," she instructed a small boy in uniform, "and if you bring an answer back to my house I'll pay you well."

The small boy sped away—a madman Cupid, messenger of Love!

Eve hurried home and restlessly paced the floor, glancing continuously at the clock.

Her heart was thudding in a disconcerting manner when at last the messenger returned.

"The captain was out Miss—I left the note for him. The nurse said as she'd give it him the moment 'e came in." A pause.

Eve gave him the money. "All right—don't wait."

Disappointedly she turned away and dressed to keep a luncheon engagement with Mary.

And when she reached the place there was no sign of Mary—only John!

"Unpunctual as usual!" remarked that worthy, tactfully.

He felt immensely sorry for Eve, though, at the moment. What a rotter the chap had proved to be—married already, yet courting a pretty popular girl like Eve!

"Where's Mary?" remarked Eve, interrupting this train of thought. "Buying her trousseau," answered John with a ridiculous little air of patronage.

"I hear, Eve, that you're not likely to be doing anything of the kind for some time yet," John continued.

He was astonished when that young lady broke into a light, half-amused laugh.

"Don't croak, dear old John!" She moved toward the entrance of the restaurant. "You'll have to spend your money on that wedding present after all—at least, there's every likelihood of it! So cheer up!"

"What do you mean? I heard that is, Mary told me!"

"She was wrong," said Eve. "Mary and you must really give up gossiping, John—you'll become an awfully garrulous, tiresome couple in your old age if you don't! It's a habit that grows worse, too, as the years go on!"

John cleared his throat in an annoyed fashion. Eve's flippancy bordered so often on the impertinent.

"I don't want to be inquisitive," John resumed, stammering a little. "But—I heard that the airman chap was a regular brawler—that he had a wife already!"

"He isn't—and he hasn't!" Eve gave a soft laugh. "It was another man altogether—one remarkably like him in appearance."

"Indeed!" commented John, rather disappointed.

A vague, nebulous hope that he had entertained of winning back this tantalizing damsel faded away into improbability.

Eve was chattering cheerfully to her old friend when suddenly her face went pale, then flushed to a rosy shade of pink. For the doors had swung wide open to admit a tall, handsome figure in a well-cut grey tweed suit—Captain Wilfred Roscommon!

He was looking directly at her, too. He must have got her note the moment he had got back to hospital. And he had come at once.

A smile spread over her pretty face as she prepared to rise and greet him.

But the smile died when she saw the blank, uninterested look on Wilfred's face. With a curt little nod—as cool as possible—and a half-contemptuous glance at John, he passed her by table, not stopping to say a single word of greeting, but striding on through the restaurant to the room above!

John had failed to notice the encounter.

She half rose to her feet, as though she would hurry up the staircase to the first floor ought to come from Wilfred's side!

After a lapse of fifteen minutes Mary came, enormously preoccupied with her purchases and shopping. "I'll just excuse me. I'll go home," she said. "You don't look very well—you're far too thin, Eve."

She glanced complacently at the reflection of her own plump figure in the mirror—then her glance went on to John, her prize! She looked impishly satisfied.

Eve slipped away.

If she had only been gifted with that peculiar faculty known as "second sight," her misery would surely have been so acute.

For the letter she had dispatched to the hospital had informed Wilfred. A nurse who was smitten of Wilfred and enjoyed dabbling in the affairs of others had read and destroyed it.

Seated in the crowded upstairs room of the little restaurant was Eve, looking immensely out of humor with the world in general and himself in particular.

The sight of Eve had curiously upset him. For Eve had been accompanied by John, a man whom Wilfred cordially disliked.

It was true that John was now engaged to Mary, Eve's particular friend. But, after all, engagements could be broken! No doubt this Canswell chap had hopes of regaining Eve. For, knowing Eve, every one loves her.

"I shall never marry!" Wilfred said, with the squareness of his strong chin more prominent than ever.

"I'll go back to the old life and the old ways."

Those carefree, happy rovings! Would they ever be so carefree and happy again? He hoped it.

A desolate longing came over him to hurry down the twisting stairs into the room below, to speak to Eve, to take her away from John, to claim her as his own!

But Eve had clearly told him that she was completely "cured" of loving him!

JUST NUTS

At last he got up from his table, paid the waiter, and strode down the stairs and out of the restaurant, without looking to right or left. No, he wasn't going to give Eve a chance to speak to him!

He took a bus which took him back to the hospital. The pretty, pert young nurse met him in the hall.

"All by yourself, Captain Roscommon? I began to feel quite sorry for your solitary condition!" she chattered.

"Do you indeed?" For the first time he noticed that this girl was distinctly pretty. Then he added, drolly:

"Won't you take pity on me?"

A curious, devil-may-care mood was on him now. Eve no longer wanted him—and he was amazingly lonely. This girl seemed kind and sympathetic. After all, why should he care?

Eve gave him the money. "All right—don't wait."

Disappointedly she turned away and dressed to keep a luncheon engagement with Mary.

And when she reached the place there was no sign of Mary—only John!

TECH AND PETREL 'PUGS' FIGHT TONIGHT

NICK WALKER WINS BATTLE

Newark, N. J., March 22.—Mickey Walker retained his title of world's welterweight champion at the end of a 12-round no-decision bout with Pete Latzo, of Scranton, Pa., tonight. The champion received the unanimous verdict of newspapermen at the ringside.

The champion was in command all the way and although Latzo fought strenuously he was kept mostly on the defensive taking a severe body beating. At the end of the bout the challenger's right side was a mass of red welts.

With a left hook to the jaw Walker sent the Scranton man to the floor for a count of three in the fourth round and in the ninth round he landed a right hook to the jaw that sent the challenger reeling across the ring where he clinched and recovered.

AL NELSON LOSES BOUT

Charleston, S. C., March 22.—(Special)—A scheduled 12-round bout tonight between Bill McGowan and Al Nelson, of Atlanta, was abruptly ended in the eighth round when McGowan suddenly dropped to the floor, apparently in great pain, and had to be lifted to his corner. The referee announced that McGowan had been fouled and awarded the bout to him.

The end came when the two were fighting at close quarters, bending over, and the alleged foul was not seen by most of the spectators it appeared. It was the opinion of the referee that Nelson had butted McGowan low, following this closely with a hard one to the solar plexus. Nelson said that he had committed any foul and many in the crowd thought the same way, while others were sure that McGowan had been painfully fouled.

The fight had been a hard one throughout and made a hit with the fans, the match being the main event of the opening program of the King Street Athletic club. McGowan had a hard time, but Nelson had the better of it on points, but Nelson kept cool and appeared not to be worried by his opponent's attack, being fresh when the finish came.

SMITHIES TO PLAY CADETS

Tech High baseball team, headed by Coach Tolbert, will leave Atlanta early today for Gainesville, Ga., to play the Riverdale Marist High baseball team will be played this afternoon, also followed by a game on Saturday afternoon. It will be the first real scheduled game for both teams and will count as a game in the G. I. A. A. both teams being members.

Tech High has played only one game this year, a 10-0 win over Oglethorpe last week. The Petrel nine was winner by an 8 to 1 score. The game developed several weaknesses on the Smithies nine and Coach Tolbert has been doing a bit of extra work in an effort to bolster the weak spots.

PETRELS WIN.

Oglethorpe has been in training practice from University school Thursday afternoon by a 7 to 2 score. The game was played on Hermance field. Both teams entered the game in need of practice, it being the first real work since last week.

The Petrel nine jumped onto Lefty Ford in the first inning and scored some three runs. Parrish, the hard-hitting outfielder for Oglethorpe, came through with a pine home run that scored two runners ahead of him. He also helped one later in the game for three sacks.

Several costly errors paved the way for Oglethorpe runs in the early part of the game and only after the third inning did the University team settle down and play real baseball.

Oglethorpe has two pitchers during the game. Willis southpawed University to death for three innings then Jake Morris went on the mound. University worked Morris for two well-earned runs in the last round.

Lefty Ford pitched four innings for University and Jake Mausby worked the final two innings. Six of the Petrel runs were made off Ford and the other was made off Mausby.

MARIST NINE STOPS J. P. C.

Marist won an interesting practice game of baseball from Boys' High, 4 to 3, Thursday afternoon on the Marist diamond. It was the first game for both teams but developed into a real mid-season affair. It was featured by the pitching on both sides. John Bradley hurled five innings for Marist and did not allow Boys' High even the semblance of a safe hit and struck out the pitcher who came to them late last year. And after which they may expect to have Jack Bentley, of Baltimore, whose coming will make their pitching staff by all odds the best in the league.

The Reds will be second because they are younger and in better form and spirit than the Pirates who will be third. The Giants work for a who is hard to go along with. They are pretty old, too.

The Cubs are fourth, and the Cardinals will be lucky to finish at the top of second division. The club is all shot now. The Braves will play beyond the Phillies and will land sixth. This puts the Phils in seventh. And the Dodgers will be lucky to finish anywhere this side of Class D, where they belong.

Jameson, who pitched for Boys' High last season, hurled four innings and allowed Marist only two hits. Upshaw relieving him in the fifth. Marist made all four runs in the bottom of the ninth. McGee relieved Upshaw in the sixth and did not allow Marist another safe hit the remainder of the game.

Marist Scores Two.

The Marist runs were made after the first two men were easy out. Van Houten got a life on an error, Wintz singled, sending Van Houten to third. Murphy then singled, which doubled and scored both runners. Ewing then singled scoring Murphy. Ewing took second on the throw to the plate and scored a moment later on another single.

Boys' High rallied in the final frame and scored three runs. Roane walked to start, Brown went safe on an error. McCurdy singled on the base. Wintz singled in the eighth field scoring both Roane and Brown. Boland followed with the second Boys' High hit and scored McCurdy. At this juncture Ewing tightened up and prevented any further scoring and saved the game for Marist.

Both teams looked exceptionally good, both in the box and in the field. The fielding was excellent, and the defense of the other team has practiced for the past two days because of bad weather. The hitting was light due to extra good pitching.

The score: R. H. E.

Marist ... 000 040 00x 6 3

Boys' High ... 000 000 003-3 2 3

Batteries: Bradley, Ewing and Murphy; Jameson, Upshaw, McGee and Boland.

CARL TREMAINE MATCHING HIS SIZE AGAINST JESS WILLARD IN EXHIBITION

JOHN McGRAW FINES SCOTT

New York, March 22.—Managers McGraw, of the New York Giants, has fined Jack Scott, star pitcher and one of the heroes in the last world's series, $100; relegated Catcher Earl Smith to the second team, and suspended him for three days for drinking liquor, according to a dispatch to The Evening World today from its correspondent at the Giant's training camp at San Antonio, Texas.

"These fellows are paid well to keep in shape and train faithfully," McGraw is quoted as saying. "I have won pennants before on discipline and I would like to see him at bat, but I would not attempt to win another without discipline in my club."

"Scott has always been a hard man to handle. I have not been severe with him. I suppose winning a game in the world's series has turned his head. I have been trying to talk to this fellow Smith for three years. He seems to be improving."

"I will break up these wild orgies among my players or know the reason why."

GRACE QUINT EASY WINNER

Four exciting games were played on the Wesley Memorial court this night. East Point traveled to meet Grace. Grace players were easy winners. 24 to 10! Carroll was the star for Grace while Tucker was the star for the losers.

Kirkwood and Druid Hill girls finished their share of the amusement, Druid Hill winning by a score of 25 to 2. Miss Micheaux shot thirteen points before half of the points were scored by her team. Miss Green scored for the losers.

The Trinity Tramps can away with the score making 47 points to St. Paul's 7. The game was clean all the way through. Trinity showing its beautiful pass work and its ability to cage the ball.

St. Mark and Calvary wound up the evening. Calvary winning St. Mark to a tune of 22 to 10.

AGOGAS LOSE TO J. P. FIVE

BY ROY E. WHITE.

J. P. C. won the final game on its basketball schedule Thursday night over the fast Agoga team 28 to 27 in one of the best games of the local amateur season. The game was played on the Capitol avenue court and was witnessed by a record crowd.

It looks very much as though Tremaine is nearing his goal. Jimmy Dunn, his doughty manager, says he has bounded eastern promoters and Lynch's manager for a couple of years for a crack at the champ and now asks again how they are going to step out such a bout now.

How can they?

But granted that Curtin was hit low, Tremaine had shown conclusively that he could not be beaten.

And Curtin won't count on the skies as the host youngster in the division unless Tremaine takes him over.

CRACKERS WILL PLAY FIRST EXHIBITION GAME TODAY

King Brady Is Scheduled To Start Game Against University of Florida

Ricks, Pratt, Graff, Eddie Moore, Miller, Guyon, Jim Moore and Burke Complete Lineup to Be Used by Crackers.

Palatka, Fla., March 22.—(Special.) With the arrival of President Corbett home from the South, the exhibition games with the University of the slab artists this year, but either Johnny Brock or Dutch Schmidt, second string receiver of last year, will be used for the other positions.

Of the crew of slab artists that are now in camp, it seems that Bonnie Karr, King Brady, Oscar Tuero, Manley Lewellyn and George Dumont, right handers, will be among those to receive bi-monthly pay checks from the Crackers, while Dick Niehaus, Cliff Best and Fred Newberry are the southpaws that have been in the good graces of Captain manager. It is probable that all of these twirlers will be carried until the squad is forced to be cut to 30 men on May 17. After that time only six flingers will compose the artillery staff to be used by the Crackers.

There is an overabundance of infielders in the Cracker fold at the present time, and with King Brady prepared to step along with a major league first baseman and second baseman, it is certain that a cut will be made soon.

Of the infielders in camp it is certain that Fred Graff, veteran third sacker will be retained. King Brady and Eddie Moore are waging a merry battle for the short field position, while "Cappy" Ricks, a young man at the initial stage, has passed Manager Miller very favorably. The remainder of the infielders will probably be farmed out to some smaller league.

Outfield Fortified.

In the outfield the Crackers seem well fortified with Joe Guyon, veteran fly chaser of the Crackers, Mike Burke and Jim Moore. Burke is one of the best batters in the southern league and is well-loved to the fans, having played with Little Rock and Nashville for several years. Jim Moore is a newcomer, but has shown a lot of stuff and it is almost certain that he will be among those to play at Ponce de Leon park this season.

CUBS HUNTING OUTFIELDER

HAHN PILOTS AUBURN FIVE

Auburn, Ala., March 22.—(Special.) Fred Hahn, star forward of last season's Tiger basketball squad, was elected captain of the 1924 team at a meeting of the basketball "A" men Wednesday night. Jessie Duke was elected student manager at the same meeting.

From Birmingham, Ala., and is a brother of Hub Hahn, who was last week elected captain of the Birmingham Athletic club cage team, who was also a former cage star of the Plainsmen. Captain-elect Hahn played four years on the Central High team of Birmingham, the last year being captain of the squad. He has also had a couple of years in baseball in his prep school training.

Duke, also from Birmingham, was formerly of Central High and later of Marion Institute. He had no previous experience in the basket game prior to his coming to Auburn, but made his letter in the indoor game in his second year with the Hutsell squad. This speaks well for the newly elected manager.

Both Hahn and Duke are seniors in the School of Engineering and belong to the Art Juniors.

Both Hahn and Duke are seniors in the School of Engineering and belong to the Art Juniors.

The players have been ordered to be on the field in uniform at 1 o'clock in spite of the fact that the game does not begin until 3 o'clock. Only two pitchers will be used. King Brady, the hard-hitting right-hand pitcher of the Crackers, selected from Milwaukee, will start for the Crackers. But "Lefty" Newberry, the lanky mountaineer, dubbed the greenest rookie in camp, will relieve him. Newberry is a southpaw and is said to be the most promising rookie in camp among the recruit twirlers.

The infield will line up with "Cappy" Ricks at first, Brett at second, Stutz at short, while Eddie Moore will start at the hot corner. Jim Moore, Joe Guyon and Mike Burke will be used in the outer gardens in the first game.

In the game Saturday Manager Miller plans to give those who fail to appear in the line-up tomorrow an opportunity to display their wares.

According to reports, the "Gators" are coming out strong for the affair and with a Palatka boy performing on the mound for the Floridians they are expected to perform miracles against the locals, according to local citizens.

Both practices today got off without a hitch. In the morning, the singers had an opportunity to show them to all parts of the country, while in the afternoon the Crackers posted out 6 to 6 defeat on the Carbories in the third practice game of the season.

WILSON AND ROY MOORE.

Auburn, Ala., March 22.—(Special.) Speed, hitting and throwing are the requisites of a good outfielder. These are the qualifications Manager Killefer is watching for in his young material for the purpose of selecting men to carry along with the team he is organizing.

He has not said which of his men are to be thus honored, but it is believed they are Hack Miller, Arnold Statz, Cliff Heathcote and Marty Callahan. This leaves the battle for the other berth with Art Weis, Dick Grigsby and Howard Fitzgerald, all young, spirited players.

Manager Killefer says he is carrying five outfielders. Four will be left-hand batters, Miller being the only right-hand hitting man in the bunch. This makes little difference, however, as there are only a few effective southpaw pitchers in the National league. Killefer, of course, is seeking to get the slugging strength possible. So the team will be given a thorough going over before the fifth man is chosen to fill the role of utility outfielder.

GRIGSBY SHOWS ABILITY.

At present one of the youngsters has a call on the extra berth, unless it is Grigsby, whose form at the plate and in the field has been most impressive. Thus far he has not shown what he can do in the throwing line, but in practice this week on the island he has learned to throw his powerful arms of his outfielders on the line.

Sunday in the final game with the Angels Grigsby came up in a pinch with the bases crowded and hammered out a clean single, scoring two. He runs to first well and takes a fly ball easily in the outfield.

Fitzgerald was making great headway in his hitting and was in practice, which set him back a few days, but he is not out of the running for any means as he is a rangy fellow with a lusty walloper and a good arm. He will be given his chance in the exhibition games yet to be played.

In the few contests in which he performed last fall for the Cubs he lacked in speed, but in exhibition games he gained in this respect as well as in knowledge and seems to be a jump ahead of Weis, who is a willing worker, but looks as if another year would just about prepare him for the big leagues.

WOOD DECLARES DODGE MUST QUALIFY

Miami, Fla., March 22.—Suggesting that Horace Dodge, of Cleveland, properly "qualify before he challenges the world's speed boat championship," Gar Wood, of Detroit, last night wired Charles F. Hopkins at St. Augustine, chairman of the regatta committee of the Florida Yacht and Sailing Association, stating that he would then race Mr. Dodge "for money, chalk, matches or fun."

In his telegram Mr. Wood stated that he only knew of Mr. Dodge's recent challenge through press reports.

The telegram was sent following one received stating that Mr. Dodge refused Mr. Wood's offer for a race for a $100,000 side bet because he was not a gambling man. Mr. Wood said there was no element of gambling involved in the offer "because I felt sure of the outcome."

"What do you think of the French invasion of the Ruhr?" "I don't know, but I'd hate to have all the people I owe money to camp on my doorstep,"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

TILDEN AND PROTEGE WILL INVADE BERMUDA

Philadelphia, March 22.—William T. Tilden, II, national tennis champion, today announced he had accepted an invitation to meet the leading players of Bermuda.

Sandy Wiener, youthful protege of the champion, will accompany Tilden to Bermuda to pair with him in doubles.

"Sandy and I are sailing next Wednesday," said Tilden. "The matches will be played on Monday, April 2."

HEAVY INCREASE SEEN IN OUTPUT OF U. S. OIL WELLS

New York, March 22.—The daily average gross oil production of the United States increased 5,350 barrels for the week ended March 17, totaling 11,807,150 barrels as compared with 11,801,800 for the preceding week.

The daily average production west of the Mississippi River increased 1,450 barrels, as compared with 11,662,800, an increase of 10,350. California production was 630,000 as compared with 335,000.

Oklahoma-Kansas showed a daily average gross production of 500,800 barrels, an increase of 1,500; North Texas showed an increase of 8,050; and South Texas, an increase of 1,000. North Louisiana, a decrease of 500, and Arkansas an increase of 9,300 barrels. In Oklahoma production of the Osage nation was shown as 102,300 barrels against 103,950; Tonkawa 50,000 against 76,900; Lyons-Quinn 9,000 against 9,100, and output of the Bristow pool was 36,100 against 35,000 barrels. The daily average of Texas, reported at 57,000 barrels, against 57,400; Haynesville, North Louisiana, 33,700 against 35,600; Eldorado, Ark., 20,750 against 20,600, and Smackover, Ark., 85,000 against 75,250 barrels. In the Gulf Coast, Hull was reported at 15,200 barrels against 17,250, and West Columbia 19,500 barrels against 19,700.

LITTLE PRICE CHANGES.

There were no changes reported in crude oil prices for the mid-continent and Pennsylvania districts; mid-continent being quoted at $1.50 to $2.60 a barrel, according to the gravity of the oil. Bradford district, Pennsylvania, being quoted at $1.25 a barrel. Gulf Coast advanced 25 cents a barrel, now being quoted at $1.75 a barrel.

According to figures collected by the institute, the imports of petroleum (crude and refined oils) at the principal United States ports for the week ended March 17, totaled 2,160,000 barrels, a daily average of 308,572, compared with 2,304,346, a daily average of 329,532 for the week ended March 10. Viewing the News

BY CLIFF WHEATLEY

If we were an Atlanta prize fight promoter—which we are not—and if we had plenty of money—which we haven't—in order that the necessary guarantees could be posted, we have a decided hunch that by using boys that are admittedly good drawing cards against other boys that are nationally recognized, we could make some money out of the game right here in Atlanta, where so many have tried and failed.

Our fans have been given some splendid fights, but they have also been subjected to exhibitions that would make Limburger cheese more sooth to the nostrils than attar of roses. Various promoters have persisted in thrusting upon their customers fighters they would walk around the block to avoid and of course somebody had to lose money.

Atlanta people will pay to see some fights, but no amount of "smoke" will drive them from their firesides if the attraction doesn't look good. These people have their favorites and they should be given the chance often to see their "horses" in action against the very best opposition that can be obtained. Atlantans are addicted to a certain type of fighter and it is folly to attempt to change their desires.

 SOME "PUGS" FILL THE BILL ***

There are well-known pugilists who fill the bill for fight fans of this section. There are others equally as good who would not come within a mile of satisfying customers of local promoters. Tell Atlanta patronage that John Smith is a brilliant "defensive fighter" and financial failure is assured. But, on the other hand, if Atlanta is convinced that a bout of the slam-bang variety is to be offered, you couldn't help crowds out with a machine gun.

And so, if we were a promoter, we would take the boys who have already won their spurs before fandom in this city and match them against others that are noted for something besides ability to stay out of the way. Of the boys who have fought recently in Atlanta we think there are six that have built up a following sufficient to warrant bringing down rather expensive talent to furnish the opposition.

No heavyweights are listed, unless Martin Burke can be lifted away from his safe haven over at New Orleans. Young Stirling is the middleweight we would bank on and there are three welterweights: "Red" Herring, "Red" MacLachlan and Battling Budd. Frankie Garcia is the featherweight and Tim O'Dowd is rapidly becoming large enough to enter this division. Claude Wilson is the bantamweight with whom we would do business.

 MACLACHLIN VERSUS HERRING. ***

And now for a discussion of the matches we would attempt to batch up. Bearing in mind that Atlantans are partial to hard hitters and fighters eternally on top, of their man our first match would be between "Red" MacLachlin and "Red" Herring. They weigh approximately the same. Herring is regarded as one of the hardest sockers of his poundage but keep coming in all the time. It would be a great battle.

Our next fight would find Young Stirling and Frankie Carbone in opposite corners. The Macon youngster isn't yet ready for such stern opposition as Jack Malone, Jeff Smith and a few others that could be named, but he would stand a splendid chance against Carbone and the latter's reputation would be enough to assure Atlanta fans of a whaling good card, just the type of fight that would please them.

Of all featherweights, or junior featherweights—if some boxing commission has decided to recognize the class—Frankie Garcia was the one that satisfied patrons here more than many others that were given opportunities. Frankie's one appearance was when he lashed Jackie Sanders around the ring. It would be good business, then, to pit Frankie against Tim O'Dowd, the home-grown lad who is just about to go into the featherweight division.

 WILSON AND ROY MOORE. ***

Claude Wilson, the Birmingham boy, is beginning to cut wide swath through the little fellows. Claude is matched to battle Jack Sharkey soon in New Jersey and should he win over Sharkey, opposition even better than we have in mind could be given him. Going on the assumption that Wilson will lose his tilt with Sharkey, our nomination for his next Atlanta appearance would be Roy Moore, known as one of the best of the second rate bantamweights.

The old Atlanta favorite, Battling Budd, who has fought so many great battles before customers of the American legion, is good enough to fight on even terms any of the lighter welterweights. We think that Sid Marks, who is now a Marlin over at Parris Island, S. C., is the boy to meet Budd. The former claims the Canadian championship and has been a familiar figure in fistfiana for years.

The five fights listed above, we believe, would provide the right kind of entertainment and financial success would probably result. But to carry the list out another decimal point, Jack Perry would be a fine opponent for the winner of the "Red" Herring—"Red" MacLachlin, embroil, as Perry made a most impressive showing against Battling Budd at the Auditorium recently.

 STRILING AND DOWNEY. ***

Should Stirling defeat Carbone he would then be ready for the middleweights that rest on the peg above. Among these is Bryan Downey, who is well advertised and who has a fine record to back the nice things that have been said about him. An even better card would be the winner of the Stirling-Carbone fight matched against Happy Littleton, the New Orleans slugger, who has retired from the ring, temporarily, says to give his eyes a chance to regain some lost power.

"Pepper" Martin is the featherweight we would choose to clash with the victor of the O'Dowd-Garcia struggle. Martin would probably fight for a guarantee low enough to make him available to local promoters; O'Dowd's manager declares his boy is ready to meet anybody anywhere near his weight and Frankie Garcia's director wants to bring the Memphis boy to Atlanta as soon as possible.

We'd like to see how this program would work out at the box offices. Now what promoter is game enough to try it out?

 SPANISH NET CRACKS WILL RESIDE IN U. S.

New York, March 22.—Manuel Alonso, sensational Spanish star, and his brother, Jose, members of Spain's 1922 Davis cup team, soon will take up residence in this country, it was announced yesterday in a press conference.

Should Spain upset calculations, however, and emerge as the European zone winner, the Alonsos would be available for the final round match in this country.

stool will establish business connections in Philadelphia.

The departure of the Alonso brothers would be a severe blow to Spain's Davis cup hopes for this year as it is assumed they will not return to Europe for the preliminary rounds.

Should Spain upset calculations, however, and emerge as the European zone winner, the Alonsos would be available for the final round match in this country.

THE PIMLICO

After more than 15 years on West Alabama St., the wonderful growth of Atlanta has forced us to seek a newer and more central location. In our new quarters we will continue to give the same efficient, courteous service that has always characterized The Etowah.

There is no barber shop in Atlanta better equipped to serve your needs than is ours. If you are not already numbered among the regular patrons of The Etowah come in today and let us show you that we give the kind of service that you like.

The same staff of well-trained, efficient barbers who have always served you are here. We charge popular Union prices.

AGGIES WILL OPEN TODAY

BY L. B. EVANS.

Dahlonega, Ga., March 22.—(Special.) The North Georgia Aggies open their ball season Friday evening Saturday, when they meet the Clarksville A. & M. team on the local diamond. Captain Carter McDonald will no doubt start the first of the series with the visitors, being relieved by one of his assistants during the latter part of the game.

"Mac" seems to be in a state of elation over his opponents during the coming season. He will be assisted in his mound duties by two left-handers.

The fate of Saturday's scrimmage will rest on the shoulders of none other than "Polly" Humber, the gentleman from Nona, who is expected to be one of the cleverest bantams to ever don a mitt.

Coulon is the only bantam in the world who won a referee's decision over Pal Moore in Moore's home town.

Coulon slumped in a round robin contest at Billy Haack's Memphis club.

The New Orleans boy is under the management of John Cox, a New York fight handler. Cox claims that Coulon will startle the Georgia fans while he skinned his gloves.

Coulon has an interesting reputation.

For the first time in four years it looks like the Aggies are going to the Auditorium on April 3, one of the cleverest bantams to ever win a match.

RADIO DEPARTMENT

SENATOR HARRIS
AT WGM TONIGHT

Will Be Heard in Short Address During Musical Program From 9:30 to 10:30 Tonight.

Senator William J. Harris, senior in a short address to listeners of the station on tonight's 9:30 to 10:30 program at Station WGM. Miss Elsa Stenger, dramatic soprano, Miss Grace Lackaye, pianist, and Mrs. Georgia Stenger, pianist, will offer the musical entertainment on the hour's broadcast.

Senator Harris will speak to fans of WGM for two or three minutes, explaining some of the things accomplished by the last congress. He is an interesting and very able speaker and his talk will be thoroughly enjoyed.

Miss Stenger, Miss Lackaye and Mrs. Stenger are two well known to listeners to require no introduction. They will be heard in solo and duet radio programs on many occasions from Station WGM and their efforts tonight will be enthusiastically received.

Miss Stenger possesses a voice of unusual sweetness and purity of tone which has endeared her to thousands of listeners. She is extremely popular with fans and her contributions to any programs are most welcome.

Miss Lackaye is a brilliant young pianist of the Mayer Piano school of this city and has been heard on many programs at WGM. She is accomplished and highly trained and will intersperse the vocal selections tonight with piano solos.

Mrs. Stenger, mother of Miss Elsa, will play the accompaniments for her daughter and son. No piano is ever heard from this station more popular with fans than Mrs. Stenger and her playing of the old times, with variations, as solos will be an unusually enjoyable feature of the late broadcast tonight.

FOUR OFFER LATE CONCERT OF WGM

Program Sponsored by Mrs. Megahue Features Miss Wynne, Mrs. Boring and Charles Wynne.

A well arranged and beautifully rendered concert was broadcast at 9:30 o'clock last evening from Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, when a program was sponsored by Mrs. Marcelle Stanton Megahue, talented Atlanta soprano.

Mrs. Megahue is the daughter of The Constitution's own Frank L. Stanton, the greatest living southern poet, and one of her selections last evening was given especially for her mother. Mrs. V. B. Jossey, who was listening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton.

Those who appeared on last night's program with Mrs. Megahue before Station WGM's microphone were two other talented WGM artists who have delighted Constitution audiences many times and one who last night made her low to the listeners to Station WGM.

On the program last night who had been heard before from WGM were Miss Jeanne Wynne, pianist, and her brother, Charles Wynne, tenor. The new artist was Mrs. Fred Boring, who has a beautiful soprano voice besides being an accomplished pianist.

The numbers with Mrs. Megahue gave were "If You Could," "How Do You Sleep, Mother," "My Buddy," and "Your Eyes Have Told Me So." Mrs. Megahue sang a duet with Mr. Wynne in the selection, "Just a Little Love Song."

Mrs. Boring had the following songs: "Smilin' Through," "The Wind Is Awake," and "That Same Old, Dear Old Place."

Miss Wynne's piano solo included "Chicago," "Caleo Rag," "Oh, Play That Song of India Again," "Carolina in the Morning," and "Aggravation Papa."

Mr. Wynne sang, besides the duet with Mrs. Megahue, "All for You," "An Iriquois Serenade," "My Buddy" (by request), and "They Beating Eyes."

"Distinctly Received."
WGM—Gentlemen: We thank you very much for the entertainment program to which we listened from WGM last evening. The concert was clearly and distinctly received over a home-made set without amplification.

SEN. HARRIS AT WGM

VARIETY OFFERED ON WGM PROGRAM

Warner's Seven Aces Introduce Two New Numbers and Were Followed by Duo of Stars.

Warner's Seven Aces, the Constitution orchestra, the outfit which "knocked 'em off their seats" at the Lyric theater in Atlanta last week, gave radio fans a dose of the medicine they used so advantageously in Keith's playhouse on last night's 6 to 7 o'clock program at WGM. After the Aces had "signed off" at 6:40 o'clock, Alfred F. Macoun, tenor and pianist, and Ted Fox, popular Atlanta pianist, appeared in several late hits.

The Aces "signed on" with "Run Wild," followed by "I've Got to Cool My Doggies," two brand new orchestrations that Atlanta's dancing contingent will hear during the present week. The two new selections preceded a number of the popular orchestrations which the Aces have made famous in Atlanta, and including "I'm a Little Bit Blue," "Hugger's Children's Blues" and others.

It was a "breazy" program throughout, to borrow an expression, and listeners will be thrilled with the news that the Aces will be heard again on tonight's early broadcast.

Supplementing the Aces on the 6 to 7 o'clock program, Alfred F. Macoun and Ted Fox, popular Atlanta pianists, were heard by WGM fans with much pleasure. Macoun is a tenor of rare talent and training who has entertained thousands of fans from this station with his snappy song and piano selections. Ted Fox is too well known to Atlanta to require an introduction. He is a pianist par excellence and well known to WGM's circle of listeners.

Macoun and Fox gave two enchanting performances. Macoun sang "Nanita," "You Know You Belong to Somebody Else," and other numbers which were heard for the first time from this station. Fox gave the piano accompaniments for Macoun's numbers in his usual acceptable manner.

"Piano Numbers Great."

Station WGM—Dear Friends: I hear your concert fine tonight. The piano numbers came in great. Yours truly, JOHN WORMAN, Ft. Washington, Pa.

Bulldogs Coming to WGM

The above photo is of Brown Whatley, left, and Harold Sheffield, right, two members of the University of Georgia's "Bulldog" glee and instrumental club which will be heard on Station WGM's 6 to 7 o'clock program on Saturday night. Whatley and Sheffield are Atlanta boys and have been dubbed the "quick sketch artists" of the Bulldog outfit.

Rumor of Higher Re-Discount Rate Brings Selling Orders

Fair Buying Support, However, Holds Reactions in Industrial Stock Issues to Fractions.

New York, March 22.—Speculative apprehension over the possibility of an early increase in the federal reserve rediscount rate brought a large volume of selling orders for both accounts into today's stock market, but fair buying support was forthcoming and the reactions in most of the popular industrial issues were held to fractions. Operations on the short side of the market also were encouraged by the weakened technical position of a number of stocks resulting from the rapidity of their recent advance.

Stiffening of the time money rate to a virtual 5 1/2 per cent basis and the marking up of the call money rate to 6 per cent after a renewal rate of 5, called attention to the increasing stringency of the money situation which also was reflected in the further appreciation of bond values. Although bonds had been bidding 5 1/2 and bankers asking 5 1/2 per cent for time money for some time, few large loans at the higher rate had been made prior to today, when several such transactions were reported.

Independent strength was shown by several issues in the oil, rubber and sugar and motor accessories groups. Some of the industrial strong spots were Cluett-Pembury, Granby Mining, Kresge, Case Threshing Machine, South Porto Rican Sugar and Union Bag and Paper, up 1 3/4 to 5 points. American Cotton Oil common and preferred were among the outstanding heavy spots.

Lack of good buying support caused moderate recessions in a number of the rails, particularly Canadian Pacific, Texas and Pacific and Delaware and Hudson, but Western Maryland, second preferred, moved up over a point.

Indications that recent rise in the French franc had been too rapid were seen in today's 16-point break to 6 3/8 cents. Other continental exchanges also weakened slightly, while demand sterling was virtually unchanged, selling just above 4.20.
